Ground Gained 'at the Cost of Tremendous Sacrifices,' Moscow Reports; Newspaper Dispatches Indicate at Least Seven Axis Divisions, Totalling up to 100,000 Men Have Been Wiped Out in Bitter Battle

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, Monday, June 22 (AP)—Beginning the second year of the war against the Axis with "no surrender" resistance along the entire 2,000-mile front, Russia acknowledged today that the enemy had succeeded in driving a wedge into the defenses of Sevastopol although "at the cost of tremendous sacrifices."

The price paid by the Axis was indicated in newspaper dispatches reporting that at least seven Axis divisions—five German and two Romanian—totaling up to 100,000 men have been wiped out in the bitter battle for the Crimean port.

"During the course of June 21, on the Sevastopol sector, our troops repelled constant fierce attacks of German fascist troops," the Soviet Bureau of Information announced in the first communique of the new year of war.

"The enemy at the cost of tremendous sacrifices succeeded in driving a wedge in our defenses."

Hand to Hand Fighting
Earlier newspaper dispatches from the roaring battle front said that the Germans, by dint of superior numbers and repeated attacks, forced the Red army back to central defense lines in the Southern zone of the Sevastopol fortifications yesterday.

Forts were surrounded in some instances; there was hand-to-hand fighting at many points.

Some of the fighting was reported to have gone underground when German soldiers occupied the upper stories of huge fortifications and the Red army fought on from subterranean corridors and defenses.

On other sectors of the front, the Soviet Bureau of Information said, there were no substantial changes—but unofficial reports told of local engagements in the Ukraine, on the Central and Northwestern fronts and on up to the Far North.

Nazi Naval Base At Emden Bombed By RAF Aviators

Fliers Hammer on Broad Front of the Occupied Channel Coast

LONDON, Monday, June 22 (AP)—German planes dropped heavy explosives early today in a sharp attack on the south coast of England hours after the RAF hammered a broad front of the occupied channel coast.

Heavy anti-aircraft fire greeted the attackers and one bomber was believed shot down into the sea.

The RAF Sunday attacks were carried out shortly after bombers struck heavily at the German naval base at Emden, on Nazi airdromes in Holland and Axis shipping off the Dutch coast.

American-made Boston bombers with fighter escort attacked docks at Dunkerque and one fighter was lost in the day forays, it was said authoritatively.

Watchers on the English coast saw numerous British fighting planes fan out in all directions across the channel.

The attack on Emden was the second in two nights. The air ministry said "a strong force" of the bomber command made the assault which would indicate that 200 or 300 planes took part. Seven were missing after the night's operations.

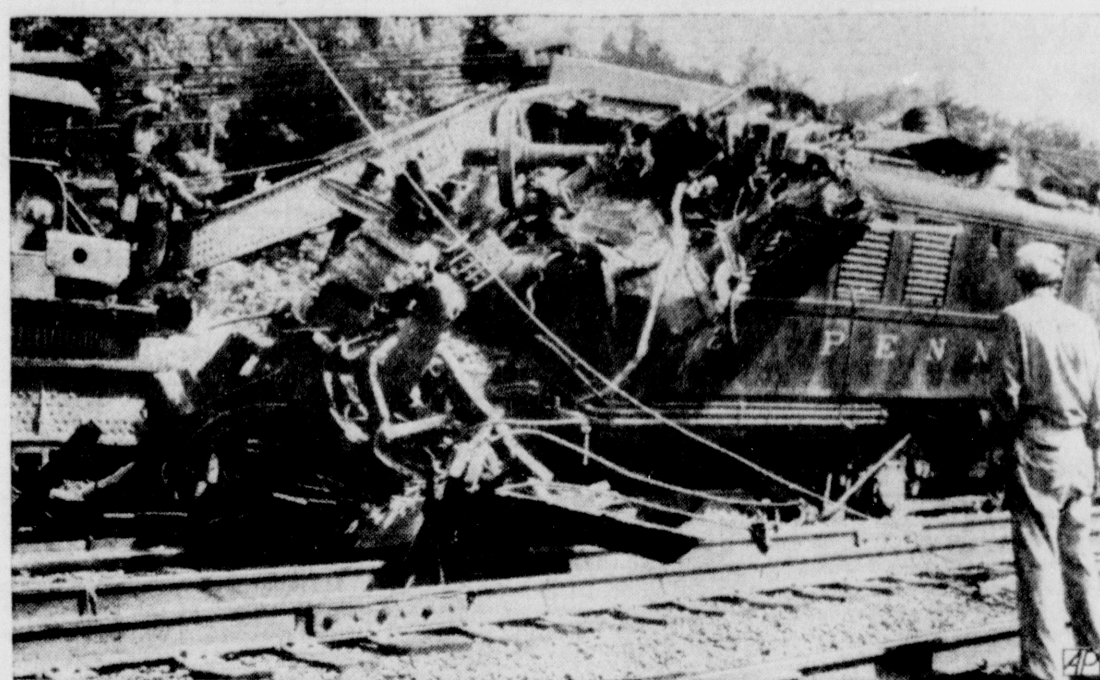

A medium sized Axis vessel was hit off the Dutch coast.

Besides Emden, the communique said, other targets were sought out in Northwest Germany and along the French coast.

Observers on the English side of the channel said that at times the whole coastline between Dunkerque and Boulogne was alight with explosions. The blasts were almost continuous for three hours.

Secretary Hull Sees Victory for United Nations By End of 1943

Says Axis Powers Will Discover They Underestimated the Ability of Their Adversaries

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—As the Roosevelt-Churchill huddle on United Nations war strategy continued, Secretary of State Hull declared today that "before the end of another year" the Axis powers will have discovered they underestimated the ability of their adversaries.

In a message to V. M. Molotov, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, congratulating Russia on her first anniversary of successful resistance to the "brutal aggression" of Nazi Germany, Hull promised an "ever widening stream" of arms and supplies to the Soviet armies and added:

Praises Russia's Stand
"We are confident that before the end of another year the instigators of this war will have been given to understand how seriously they have underestimated the determination and the ability for effective action of the peace-loving nations, and will have learned that in an aroused world aggressors can no longer escape the consequences of acts resulting in human suffering and destruction."

Hull told Molotov, who recently returned to Russia after conferences here with President Roosevelt and in London with Prime Minister Churchill on the urgency of creating a second front in Europe, that Russia's great stand against the Nazi hordes had "frustrated the plans for world conquest so over-confidently laid by our common enemy."

"For one year," his message continued, "the peoples of the Soviet Union have been engaging the armies not only of Nazi Germany but also of those other European countries the governments of which have accepted Nazi dictation."

"In this struggle the armed forces of the Soviet Union, with the heroic support of the entire population, have so acquitted themselves as to win the admiration of the liberty-loving peoples of the world and to earn a place in history beside those Russian armies which over a century and a quarter ago did so much to ruin the plans of another aspirant to world conquest."

Silence Shrouds Conversations
Silence still shrouded the conversations of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, begun on Thursday night after the arrival of the British official in this country.

Nipponese Plan To Establish Base At Kiska Island

Navy Reports Japs Have Put Forces Ashore in the Aleutians

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The navy reported today that the Japanese have put forces ashore at Kiska Island and apparently are attempting to establish some sort of base on that Aleutian island only 583 miles from the navy's Dutch Harbor base.

This second enemy foothold in the western hemisphere was made known in a communique which said that army bombers, raiding the harbor at Kiska, had sunk a transport and apparently hit a cruiser.

"Tents and minor temporary structures were observed to have been set up on land," the communique said.

Enemy Makes Progress
This indicated that the enemy had made some progress since a navy communique on June 12 reported Japanese ships in the harbor at Kiska and the landing of small forces at Attu. The latter island is about 275 miles west of Kiska in the Aleutian chain which stretches out from Alaska toward Japan.

In reporting the army bomber raid, the navy's communique—its first in a week of developments in the Aleutians—observed that operations against the Japanese "continued to be restricted by considerations of weather and great distances."

The raid by army bombers was made "within the last few days," the navy said. Its results had not been reported previously.

The hits on the cruiser and the sinking of a transport raised the officially announced total of enemy vessels sunk or damaged in the Aleutians to at least four cruisers, a destroyer, a gunboat and two transports.

Report Sinking Cruiser
In addition, there has been a semi-official report of the sinking of a cruiser and the damaging of an aircraft carrier. This report was made in a telegram from Lieut. General H. H. Arnold, commander of the army air forces, to the Glenn L. Martin Company praising the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

ALLIED WAR PROGRAM IMPERILED BY BRITISH DEFEAT IN LIBYA

By J. WES GALLAGHER

LONDON, Monday, June 22 (AP)—The fall of Tobruk was officially confirmed by the British early today, a setback which imperils Allied plans for a second front and leaves Egypt and Suez seriously threatened by Axis forces.

The enemy has pushed on to capture Bardia, eight miles from the Egyptian border, and the Libyan outpost of Bir El Gobi, according to German and Italian claims.

Official confirmation of Axis claims that 25,000 British prisoners were captured at Tobruk was not forthcoming immediately but it seemed plausible here. Loss of the Libyan port, which last year withstood eight months of siege, was conceded to be a blow of serious proportions. Bardia and Bir El Gobi were undefended.

Details Are Lacking

A statement issued by an authoritative spokesman said simply: "It is confirmed in London that Tobruk has fallen."

This announcement came at the end of the day of Axis claims which had fully prepared the public for the heavy news.

Details of the final action were scarce. Richard Dimbleby, British Broadcasting Corporation correspondent in Libya, reported that "the bombing of our forward posts on main attack was preceded by dive-bombing defenses."

"Then," continued a BBC broadcast based on Dimbleby's reports, "the enemy launched a very fierce attack from the Southeastern part of the Perimeter, with all the tanks and infantry available in that area."

"British and Indian troops, fighting side by side with great determination, took the first shock of the attack on Tobruk. Despite their great gallantry, it is clear now that they were hampered by the great (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Second Siege Ends Abruptly; Axis Takes Vital Supply Harbor

Vancouver Island Radio Station Is Shelled by Sub Of Axis Powers

Canadian Defense Minister Says No Damage Was Caused; Washington, Oregon May Dim-Out

VICTORIA, B. C., June 21 (AP)—An enemy submarine, presumably Japanese, shelled the Canadian government radio station at Remote, sparsely-populated Estevan point on the West coast of Vancouver island for about half an hour last night but failed to hit the building, it was announced tonight.

It was the first attack on Canadian soil since the war began.

"The shells landed on the beach and on the rocks well beyond the station," Lieut.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, said tonight. "A few windows in the chief of the Canadian General Staff, radio office were broken by the concussion."

Isolated Settlement

Estevan is an isolated settlement of thirty-three persons midway up the rocky island coast. The radio station is on a promontory jutting six miles out into the Pacific and is protected by a rocky reef extending along the offshore waters.

This area is supplied by tender from Hesquiat, six miles away, where a coastal steamer makes weekly calls. Most of the residents at Estevan are white employees of the radio station and of a lighthouse there.

The shelling of the barren, Rocky Point was the first indication that an enemy submarine had ventured in waters off the British Columbia coast.

The closest enemy action heretofore off Canada's Pacific coast was the torpedoing of a United States merchant ship just off Neah bay, Wash., fifty-nine miles directly west of Victoria early this month. Estevan point is about 115 miles Northwest of Neah bay.

The attack, disclosed officially by Defense Minister Col. J. L. Ralston in a brief announcement at Ottawa, occurred at 10:35 p. m. Saturday Pacific Time (1:35 a. m. Sunday, E.W.T.).

The identity of the submarine, the duration of the attack, and other details were not given.

OTTAWA, June 21 (AP)—Col. J. L. Ralston, Canadian defense minister, announced today that a government telegraph station on Vancouver Island was shelled by a submarine at 10:35 p. m. Pacific time Saturday (1:35 a. m. Sunday, eastern war time). No damage was caused, he said. The shelled station is located at Estevan Point.

Colonel Ralston gave no other details of the attack beyond the fact that the information was received here from the commander- (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

German and Italian Communiques Claim the Capture of 25,000 British Soldiers Including Several Generals; Most of Equipment Conveyed a Few Days Ago Is Believed To Have Fallen to Enemy

CAIRO, Egypt, June 21 (AP)—The "second siege" of Tobruk has ended abruptly in a short, overpowering assault which toppled that key supply harbor into Axis hands and advanced Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel's armored hosts to the borders of menaced Egypt.

Captured in the overwhelming rush, said German and Italian communiques, were 25,000 British soldiers and several generals—almost a duplication of the number of Italians taken prisoner when the town surrendered to the British on January 22, 1941.

Equipment Lost

It was possible, too, that most of the equipment conveyed to Tobruk by the British Navy at great cost only a few days ago had fallen into Axis hands for the enemy announcements claimed the capture of vast stores.

With this thorn removed from the side of the Axis coastal flank, the Germans claimed to have rushed on and seized Bir El Gobi, a desert track crossing forty miles southeast which has been much fought-over, and Bardia, only eight miles from the Egyptian border.

Observers did not doubt these claims, either, for it was not believed these places were strongly held.

There was no ready explanation of the stunning blow that the British thus apparently had suffered, but it was feared that the British had lost a large proportion of their tanks and were unable to give battle to the Axis armored columns or they would not have surrendered so readily the fortress to which they clung through thick and thin in a siege last year.

Tobruk, the best deep harbor between Alexandria and Tripoli and thus a key point in the vital problem of supply in the desert, had been British since January 22, 1941 when the British seized it from the Italians in the first Libyan offensive.

It was cut off on April 12 when (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Farmers Hampered In Food Program By Gas Rationing

Filling Stations Usually Sold Out and Crops Are Lost

BALTIMORE, June 21 (AP)—Farmers in several Maryland counties, seeking to step up food production for the war effort, are being hampered in planting, harvesting and marketing their crops because of inadequate gasoline supplies, Leo H. McCormick said today.

McCormick, state director of the Office of Price Administration, reported the shortage of gasoline for farm tractors and trucks was most serious in Anne Arundel and St. Mary's counties.

The lack of fuel is being felt in other counties also, he said notably Carroll.

Although the sale of gasoline for farm use is not limited, the farmers are handicapped because the filling stations are sold out before the rural residents get there.

Stanley E. Day, Anne Arundel county agent, said one farmer recently visited between fifteen and twenty service stations before getting enough gasoline to power his two trucks, and was unable to get enough to run his tractor.

The result was a lost crop of more than 200 bushels of beans.

Day said another Anne Arundel farmer lost part of his fruit crop because he delayed spraying when he was unable to obtain fuel.

Although such losses and delays are serious, Day said, the real danger will arrive at the time for general harvesting.

"In the middle of a big harvest," he explained, "the enforced idleness of only one or two trucks will likely mean the loss and wastage of large quantities of produce. Even as little as a twenty-four-hour delay (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Plan to Build Big Cargo-Carrying Subs Held Feasible by the Navy

Senator Hill Urges Immediate Program To Build Undersea Craft

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—Declaring that construction of submarines capable of carrying 7,500 tons of cargo was considered feasible by the navy, Senator Hill (D-Ala.) urged today an immediate program to build scores of these undersea craft to carry military supplies to united nations forces in all parts of the world.

"The answer to the submarine is the submarine," Hill told reporters. "I see no reason why we can't build (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2) submarines to carry cargoes as well as torpedoes. There may be a question of obtaining the materials but if there is a choice between constructing surface cargo ships that may be sunk and submarines that could get the supplies through, I think it ought to be made in favor of the submarines."

Hill disclosed that he had written Secretary of Navy Knox, after conferences with Simon Lake, the inventor of the submarine, to ascertain the navy's view toward construction of the huge undersea craft.

"The first question in your letter," Knox replied, "is 'disregarding the angle of economy and shortage of critical materials, do you think it would be possible to construct a sub-

Midway Battle A Jap Invasion Threat to U. S.

Observers Believe Victory Thwarted Enemy Plans To Use Island for Base

By WENDELL WEBB
WITH THE PACIFIC FLEET
June 21. (AP)—There is no doubt now that the Japanese thrust at Midway island early this month may be termed the battle for the invasion of America's West coast.

Unofficial but reliable tabulation today indicates Japan's abortive bid for new power utilized a force which could have regarded Midway island itself as the smallest of pawns.

This force included four battleships, five aircraft carriers, eight cruisers plus destroyers, submarines, transports, tankers and sea-plane tenders.

The Japanese armada was strung out for hundreds of miles, creeping toward its first tiny goal when carrier planes of the United States fleet and land-based aircraft of the army launched their most amazing counter assault.

Scattered Over Wide Area
Within three days this unprecedentedly large long-range invasion force had been scattered over a large area of the Pacific.

Exactly how much of it ever got home may never be determined. It can be said, however, that from the standpoint of an observer at the scene of action, the American communiqués on losses to the enemy have been most conservative.

Midway, the immediate objective of this invading force, is only a naval hop, skip and jump from Hawaii, and from Hawaii to the United States West coast is not far compared to the reach of modern war.

Modern war in dramatic phases characterized the Battle of Midway. Torpedo planes, dive bombers, heavy bombers and fighters—it was these which told the story.

Had air superiority been lost, surface ships of course could have gone into close-up action in a last-ditch stand against the invaders. But that never became necessary.

Found Nothing to Fight
Ships, which fought off repeated aerial attacks in their necessary supporting role to the carriers, kept up a merry pursuit of the harried enemy, but each time they caught up with the last scene of action there was nothing left for them to fight.

The sinking of a destroyer, the only American vessel announced lost in the engagement, did not come in the prime phase of the battle. The destroyer was torpedoed while on separate patrol.

The damaging of an American aircraft carrier was the finale of Japan's bid for power in the Midway area. The carrier weathered two attacks and within three hours after the last one there were no enemy carrier planes reported in the whole area.

The full import of the far-flung engagement, extending over hundreds of thousands of square miles of the Pacific, was hard to grasp at the time of the action.

At the end of it there was many a tired sailor like the bewildered gunner who stirred his coffee abstractly and remarked, "I wouldn't wonder that something big has happened out here today."

In-chief of Canadian west coast defenses.

The text of the announcement follows:

"The commander in chief, west coast defenses, reported that the Dominion government telegraph station at Estevan Point, Vancouver Island, was shelled by a submarine at 10:35 p. m. (Pacific time) on Saturday night. No damage resulted."

First Attack on Canadian Soil
The shelling of Estevan Point was the first enemy activity on Canadian soil.

Earlier this month, an air raid warning was sounded in Prince Rupert, British Columbia, but the all-clear followed a short time after it had been established that the aircraft which caused the alert was friendly.

A similar warning was sounded a few weeks previously in the Lake St. John district of Quebec. Planes there also turned out to be friendly.

Submarine activity on Canada's eastern seaboard has brought the war close to the Dominion in that region. Navy Minister MacDonald announced last month that two ships had been torpedoed and sunk in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Estevan Point is situated about midway on the western coast of Vancouver Island, approximately 110 miles from the nearest point on the United States frontier.

Attack on California Recalled
The submarine shelling recalled the attack near Santa Barbara, Cal., last February 22 when an underwater craft appeared off the town of Goleta and fired two dozen shells at an oil refinery near the shore. This action occurred at the same time that President Roosevelt was making a fireside chat to the nation. There were no casualties and only small damage.

SEATTLE, June 21. (AP)—An immediate dim-out along the coasts of Washington and Oregon, because of the shelling of Vancouver Island by a submarine, was suggested today by Rear Admiral C. S. Freeman, commander of the Thirteenth Naval District.

Alaskan authorities will act on their discretion, the navy said.

In the Greek colony, which operates most of the city's businesses, there is calm confidence that the tide will turn.

Air raid precaution authorities, however, started the evacuation today of numbers of persons from "danger zones."

They said this had been decided upon weeks ago as a measure of "rest for the population of certain quarters of Alexandria more exposed than others to the danger of air raids," and that the situation in the desert had nothing to do with the step.

American merchantmen along with British and Allied ships, escorted by warships, are pouring in a steady stream of war materials and foodstuffs.

Shipping sources said that the reappearance of American cargo ships in increasing numbers in the Mediterranean in the last few months has greatly enlarged the flow of supplies into this strategic war zone.

were destroyed last week while the Red air force lost 103.

Russian planes are playing a big part in the defense of the Soviet land, the communiqué indicated. It announced that last Saturday the air force in various areas of the front destroyed or damaged sixteen German tanks, sixty motor vehicles with troops and war materials, two guns, fourteen mortars, twenty anti-aircraft guns, several gasoline tank trucks, and dispersed and partially wrecked up to two companies of infantry.

The battle of Sevastopol, going into its eighteenth day this morning, was growing steadily more tense, the Russians acknowledged.

While the Soviets fell back on the south of the city, they declared they were maintaining firm resistance on the north side.

Fierce Fighting in Ukraine
Pierce fighting also flared up anew in the Ukraine where the Germans resumed efforts to advance on the Kharkov front, some 400 miles north of Sevastopol.

At one point in the Ukraine, it was reported, a Red army unit wrecked and burned 104 enemy tanks and killed 500 men in a battle for a large village. The Germans had sent 138 tanks against the village.

Around Sevastopol, the Germans continued to rain bombs and shells on the Russian defense but they were reported drawing more and more troops from transports and other special services for front-line action.

The struggle remained most fierce on the northern side, where the

The Senate will resume tomorrow its consideration of a broad-term bill for government payments to civilians suffering injuries from enemy action, and to the dependents of those killed or captured. Senator George (D-Ga.) has served notice he will ask that the measure be sent to the Finance committee, of which he is chairman, for study.

Russians Retreat
Two more attacks were launched, these dispatches added, with the enemy rear guard rushing forward in a desperate charge.

The Russians finally gave way, it was reported, and retreated to the new lines, exacting a toll of the enemy as they retreated.

The Russians helping defend the Ukrainian village were outnumbered in tank strength but they used a clever defense to outwit and whip the attacking German machines, it was reported.

The Red army infantry, holding narrow trenches, let the Nazi tanks pass over their heads. Then, while Russian tanks counter-attacked, the Soviet infantry attacked with armor-piercing guns.

In another sector of the Kharkov front, it was said, German shock troops tried to cross a river but dispatches said Red army artillery attacked and took a settlement which was one of the bases of the German lines.

The Russians generally were reported holding this front firmly, with counter-attacks at various points along the line.

Fresh fighting flared around long besieged Leningrad across the continent to the north and the Russian claimed they had destroyed thirty-six artillery and mortar batteries along with 400 Germans in two days.

Still further north, a Soviet unit was said to have advanced to more favorable positions on the northwestern front facing Finland, "killing and wounding many of the enemy."

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Tobruk disaster appears likely to mark the opening of an extremely critical, perhaps even desperate, summer for the United Nations cause.

A preliminary to the Nazis' main onslaught in Russia, the sudden loss of the Libyan stronghold with some 25,000 British troops inevitably stirs uneasiness over the stability of the entire Mediterranean-Middle East flank. Sevastopol's mortal peril adds to the pessimistic effect.

With this due recognition of the grimmer aspects of the war picture as it appears at the moment, it is possible to state some guarded reassurances as to the immediate prospects on the important North African front itself.

Minimize Danger to Egypt
The considered judgment of competent military authorities is that despite the blow the defenders have sustained, Egypt and Suez are probably not in great danger at present from Rommel's drive. The brilliant Nazi desert commander is credited with insufficient strength to exploit his triumph decisively against the remaining obstacles.

At or near the Egyptian border, the British now hold the strongest defensive line in North Africa, including presumably the Halfaya pass area which last year was an Axis strong point. Obviously the British cautiously held substantial forces in reserve while Rommel audaciously threw his entire strength into the unexpected offense. These British reserves are available to bolster the new frontier.

Eastward from the border, the defenders enjoy shorter lines, railroad transportation denied the attacks, and presumably retain their margin of aerial superiority.

The British losses are serious, in manpower as well as in armored force equipment. By Nazi claims, the Imperial troops taken at Tobruk brought the total captures of two weeks to 45,000 or more. But these represent probably less than a third of Lieutenant General Ritchie's army, assuming it was at least as large as the three German and eight Italian divisions believed to have been under Rommel's command.

Peril for Malta Is Increased
It is true that the chances for a United Nations offensive in the Mediterranean seem to have been set back indefinitely and the burden of isolated, battered Malta is even greater than before. Nevertheless, none of the whole train of evils which could ensue from Tobruk's loss is inevitable.

Major Refinery Has Plenty of Sugar on Hand

No Use for Rationing, President of Texas Concern Says

HOUSTON, Tex., June 21. (AP)—The Imperial Sugar Refinery at Sugarland, one of the nation's major refineries, has so much sugar in its warehouses it has closed and probably will not open until July 6, M. G. Thompson, vice president and general manager, reported.

Thompson said more than 20,000,000 pounds of refined sugar are overflowing the huge warehouse at Sugarland and 10,000,000 more pounds are in two Houston warehouses.

He said the refinery was having no transportation problems and was obtaining plenty of raw sugar for refining.

The refinery shut down last Wednesday, Thompson added. While it is not operating, many employees are taking vacations and others are working on routine repairs to the buildings and machinery.

So far as we are concerned, there isn't a bit of use for rationing," he said.

No Use for Rationing, President of Texas Concern Says

HOUSTON, Tex., June 21. (AP)—The Imperial Sugar Refinery at Sugarland, one of the nation's major refineries, has so much sugar in its warehouses it has closed and probably will not open until July 6, M. G. Thompson, vice president and general manager, reported.

Thompson said more than 20,000,000 pounds of refined sugar are overflowing the huge warehouse at Sugarland and 10,000,000 more pounds are in two Houston warehouses.

He said the refinery was having no transportation problems and was obtaining plenty of raw sugar for refining.

Famed Pilot Plans To Practice Law When War Ends

Go Get 'Em McCuskey, Flier Who Saved Carrier Tells about His Squadron

PEARL HARBOR, June 21.—Go Get 'Em McCuskey, who won the Navy's distinguished service cross for saving his aircraft carrier from attack by shooting down a Jap bomber, wanted to be a lawyer and still plans to practice.

He also shares credit with three other fliers—pilots for having strafed and probably sunk a Japanese destroyer by machine-gun fire.

The would-be attorney is Lieut. E. Scott McCuskey, 27, son of Mrs. Rosamond and Jane McCuskey, of Stuttgart, Ark. Today he was permitted to tell part of his story.

"I'd rather talk about my squadron," he said. "It's the fightingest fighting squadron in the fleet. Our score of Jap planes shot down is forty-four and we have lost only four pilots."

"I can't give the names of all our squadron, because that would be supplying their identification to the enemy."

"But I can say that my wingman, 'Johnny G. Adams, of Hiawatha, Kas., got three planes; Lieut. Art J. Brassfield, a Browning (Mo) schoolteacher, got seven; Lieut. Walter Haas, Collingwood (N. J.) druggist, got six; Lieut. Richard Cromwell, Montgomery, Ala., four, and Ensign Harry Bonaparte Gibbs of Wheeling, W. Va., two."

McCuskey came into the name "Go Get 'Em," at the time of the Navy's devastating raid on the Japanese-manned Gilbert and Marshall islands in January.

He was in the air standing guard over his carrier when a radioed order rang through his earphones:

"There's a four-motored job up there making a gun. Go get 'em, McCuskey."

The Lieutenant and his wingman, Adams, went for the Jap bomber, and after a fight in the clouds, McCuskey came out with his first victim blown to pieces.

Apparently he had struck in the greatest mass attack ever delivered against Tobruk, before the defense could be fully organized, and now was free to turn his full might in an all-out assault toward Suez and Alexandria.

British spokesmen emphasized a few days ago that Tobruk was not necessary to the defense of their Egyptian line, but through 1941 it made an all-out Axis attack virtually impossible because of its threat to their rear and played an important part in British plans for their counter-offensive. While besieged it kept four and a half divisions of Axis troops engaged.

Rommel, who began his current offensive the night of May 26 by a sweep around the Ain El Gazala-Bir Hacheim line, was first believed by the British to be in danger of entrapment when his circuitous supply columns were all but cut and he was forced to depend on two narrow gaps pierced through the line.

Anti-Tank Guns Used
When at length he had succeeded in erasing the line after nearly three weeks of hard fighting, an objective at which he had aimed in the first few days, the British believed his strength had been so depleted that he could no longer mount his projected assault upon Tobruk, much less Egypt.

The secret of his success, however, apparently lay in big eighty-eight millimeter anti-tank guns and larger quantities of tanks than he was suspected of having.

The powerful guns knocked British tanks, including American-made General Grants, right and left when they were caught at close range in an ambush.

Tonight there were some experts here wondering whether the present battle was not demonstrating the beginning of the end of the tank and the superiority of the anti-tank gun.

The last war saw the tank in and this one probably will see it out, some tank officers said. It is excellent for smashing infantry, but its chances are minimized if the in-performance of planes built by the company.

The apparent attempt of the Japanese to establish themselves at Kiska was regarded as of greater consequence than their first landing at Attu.

Kiska not only is nearer Dutch Harbor but also has a fair harbor, the site of a former coaling station for ships. Attu, on the other hand, has poor harbor facilities for ships of any size. At either place, it was believed extensive work would be required to provide an air base of any consequence.

A satisfactory temporary base might be set up at Kiska, however, by the use of steel landing mats.

Kiska island has a high mountain backbone whose greatest elevation is a northern peak of more than 4,000 feet. The harbor, on the east-central coast, is broad and deep.

Island Sparsely Settled
The island is sparsely inhabited by Indians and a few white traders.

The first appearance in force of the Japanese in the Alaskan area came with an air raid on Dutch Harbor June 3. The navy reported later reconnaissance flights over Dutch Harbor but made no further mention of bombing operations.

In a statement at Seattle yesterday, a spokesman for the thirteenth naval district asserted that the Japanese in the Aleutians are "getting snatched whenever there is rift in the fog banks."

fought until nightfall when it learned that it was virtually surrounded by enemy tanks. All equipment was piled on trucks and the men waited for dawn, never knowing when an attack might come.

But Free French drove off the Axis forces toward Bambur on the coast.

An hour before dawn was the most anxious for the fighters and bombers still stood on the airfield and the German tank column still hovered near. The air ministry said. Then as it grew light and the shape of the waiting aircraft gradually formed from the dimness of the landing ground the squadrons began taking off.

"That was yesterday. All day it was just a steady trek across the desert. Lines of trucks everywhere in the choking dust x x x overhead swept the fighters and never a German aircraft came near us," one officer was quoted as saying.

After the last trip one squadron of American-built Boston bombers reported that German tanks were advancing less than "five minutes flying time away."

the Germans led the Axis rebound, but for eight months the British held on despite terrific dive bombings and artillery bombardments and despite a high cost in ships which supplied the garrison.

At length, on Dec. 10, 1941, the siege was lifted when the British began their second offensive.

Nazis Made Terrific Attack
It was cut off again "three days ago by Axis armored forces which surged past to the coast."

The only available accounts of the last attack said the Germans began a terrific dive bombing attack yesterday, then drove a wedge deep in the thirty-mile perimeter of defenses.

Infantry forces stormed forward to consolidate and enlarge the hold, then tanks again came forward to complete the job.

At 7 a. m. (1 a. m. Eastern War Time) today, said the Italian communiqué, the British sent forward an officer with a white flag to offer surrender.

The tanks which took part apparently were the two columns which yesterday were reported to have made a feint toward the Egyptian border and then turned back.

The quick fall of the stronghold with its ring of barbed wire, anti-tank trenches and pillboxes strongly manned by forces believed to include South Africans and Poles, was taken by observers as clear indication of the great strength of Rommel's army which has proved to be so deceptive at several phases of his present offensive.

Pastor's Son, Only 36, Succeeds Hillman on War Production Board

By ESTHER TUFFY
Central Press Correspondent
WASHINGTON, June 21—Who is the guy, Wendell Lund, the new labor lord?

That's the question asked here, there and everywhere these days about the big, curly-haired blond, 36-year-old chap who is taking over Sidney Hillman's job on the War Production Board. Also he's the new front-page personality on the nine-man War Manpower commission.

Actually his face is not new in Washington, except to reporters. Only three years ago he was an official in the Farm Security administration. One of those all-work-and-no-publicity jobs. In his friendly way he soon numbered among his friends many of the up-and-coming men in the administration.

Back in his native Michigan he's too well known by those who got in his path when he was bent to clean up state purchasing. This disagreeable job was given him by his friend, Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner.

As a reward for doing that job so well, the governor looked around for another tough job. There was one handy—to head the unemployment compensation commission faced with an unemployment crisis born from automobile conversion to war production.

Helped Solve Problem
It was not the ideal time to make labor love him. But Lund rolled up his sleeves and started to tackle not only the big demands, but a lot of little labor headache, some of which had become dusty in pigeonholes. What he contributed to the big unemployment problem was printed on the front pages from coast to coast, but the little unsung victories were really what sold him personally to labor.

At the request of the governor, Lund came to Washington to plea for labor. He sought the $300,000,000 federal aid legislation to deal with those war-hit employees out of work through no fault of their own. He battled before the powerful ways and means committee of the House of Representatives against a battery of governors, who feared federalization of compensation benefits. Federalization had no fears for Lund—he suspected it was "a herring drawn across the real issue to confuse the values of the proposal." The net result of his efforts was not reflected in new federal legislation, but in the now famous 20-20 labor amendment to the Michigan unemployment compensation act, known and praised as the most liberal in the United States.

Come from Escanaba
It's a known secret in Lansing that Lund snatched up considerable support, even from management, by his appeals for a square deal for labor in the war emergency. He also showed management that the bill was necessary if Michigan's war industries were to have the labor they needed to do their big job.

Lund hails from the upper peninsula from the town of Escanaba, where the smelt run in the spring. He's the son of a Lutheran minister.

Now he's tackled a tough job. Maybe the president heard about this man in Michigan whom the governor picked for the nasty job—and thought certainly he had one tough enough to satisfy even the "Swede from Michigan."

Anyway President Roosevelt okayed the choice of the joint CIO—AFL committee which was weary from considering many names for a successor to Sidney Hillman. Lund was a compromise—and that is seen now as an advantage in freeing him to represent "all" labor.

Again, Lund must be the man of the hour. Of all the ticklish labor questions ever seeking solution, that at best can not completely please anyone, it's the one of wage stabilization.

The president's message was vague—maybe intentionally so. The general interest is toward no wage increases. But the order also respects the validity of existing contracts. Some of these binding agreements have phrases such as "wage raises shall be in proportion to the increased costs of living."

Lund's division has just finished a wage stabilization agreement for the vitally important shipbuilding industry with its 750,000 employees. Soon will follow agreements in aircraft, steel and other basic industries.

The formula worked out in the Chicago shipbuilding conference provided for paying desirable wage increases in War Bonds. (This was to offset the inflationary danger that the worker would rush out to pay any price for scarcity goods.)

Ideas Born in Plants
The heart of the new Labor Production division is set up of labor-management committees operating right in the plant. Thousands of ideas have come from workers to speed up production, says Lund, adding that labor has a great stake in the war effort against the anti-labor dictators. Nor do the workers forget they have sons on the battlefronts.

Lund is a nice chap to meet. His chit-chat amusing. His deep talk stimulating. His family is an asset—his attractive wife, and his two blonde daughters, Judy Ann 6, and Carol, 4. He has degrees from Princeton, Columbia and Georgetown. Yet one gets the idea he's a little ashamed of being a good student. His academic trait of searching for the truth is one reason for his growing success, because he backs his findings with Scandinavian stubbornness—and lets the chips fall where they may.

Old Days Not Forgotten
His many degrees have not made him forget the days when he, too, carried a union card, the days when he worked on the iron ore docks, the railroad the yards and in the hardwood flooring mill.

He's almost solemn over his present trust. Ardent belief that the very life of democracy depends on labor's playing its rightful role in war production, Lund feels keenly in his responsibility as labor's voice. In these first days on his job, he is trying to ferret out the ways in which labor can participate to the maximum.

Intellectually bold, Lund is all-out for labor. He knows labor must have the public in its corner and play its part with management. His own office commands a view of lower Pennsylvania avenue, with the beauty of the new Mellon gallery offering the most inspiration. The door to the left of his desk leads to the private office of Mr. War Lord, himself. . . . Donald Nelson.

TODAY'S VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

By Dean Halliday

Growing Sturdy Cucumbers

While cucumbers are not an important vegetable, a few vines can be included where space permits. Any fruits not used for salads can be made into relishes or pickled for winter use.

Cucumbers are heavy feeders and placing one or two shovels of manure in the bottom of each hill works wonders. To plant the seed, form a circular hill about one foot wide and put four inches of soil over the manure. Plant the seeds a half-inch deep, ten or twelve in each hill.

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, after the young plants are well along they should be thinned, leaving only four of the sturdiest plants.

For the early small varieties, have the hills four feet apart each way. For the large late cucumbers place the hills farther apart; four by six feet is usually ample.

300 Members Attend Ox Roast of Legion Post at Jockey Club

Three hundred members attended the ox roast given yesterday by Post Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, at the Cumberland Jockey Club, Fairgo.

Dinner was served to those attending and arrangements were in charge of Ellis "Cappy" Haller.

The American Legion band of thirty members, directed by Joseph M. Fradiska, entertained with a concert during the afternoon festivities.

Army Outfit Spurns Motor Lorries To Save Gasoline

CAMP RICKETT, Va., June 21 (AP)—An army outfit has spurned motor lorries, saved an estimated 5,000 gallons of gasoline and 300,000 tire miles, and hoisted the forty-five miles from Camp Lee, Va., to its new location here.

The army disclosed today the mass march of the "many thousands" composing the medical replacement center, reporting the movement was completed in three days.

Although authorized to transport his men by truck, Brig. Gen. William R. Dear, commanding general of the Medical Replacement Training Center, decided to march instead. The army said his plan with less than a month of army hardening.

The men spent two nights in temporary encampments.

U. S. Merchant Ship Sends Out S.O.S.; Is Being Attacked

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 21 (AP)—The Fortaleza radio station picked up a distress call from the United States merchant ship West Ira, 5,681 tons, last night saying she was being attacked in the South Atlantic.

French Submarine And Crew Is Lost

VICHY, France, June 21 (AP)—The loss of the French Submarine Monge, of the 1,379-ton Redoubtable class, with her crew of sixty-three during the defense of Diego Suarez, Madagascar, last month, was announced today by the admiralty.

The Monge, built in 1923, was the third submarine loss reported in that engagement.

(The German-controlled Paris radio announced the admiralty communiqué and said the Monge was the eighth French submarine lost since the 1940 armistice.)

Baltimore Aviator Killed in Crash

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 21 (AP)—Second Lieut. Jesse Ellsworth Bural, 23, of Baltimore, was killed yesterday when the plane in which he was attempting to take off crashed at Hunter Field.

He was the only occupant, army officials said.

Bural was the son of Mrs. Edith B. Bural of Baltimore, a nurse at Union Memorial hospital. Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Willie Smith of College Park, and a brother, Robert, of Myersville, Md.

Bural was a native of Myersville, attended the University of Maryland and was graduated from Michigan State. He received his wings in April and was transferred to the Savannah Field in May.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at Middletown, Md., with burial in Monrovia cemetery.

Haas Rites Will Be Held on Tuesday

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., June 21 (AP)—Requiem mass will be said at St. Joseph's Catholic church here Tuesday for Joseph Haas, a native of Philadelphia, who established two knitting mills in Martinsburg during his business career.

Haas, who died last Friday, organized the old Middlesex Knitting Mill here in 1890 and later opened the Kilbourn Knitting Mill, which is now the Interwoven Stocking Company plant.

Haas is survived by seven children, Mrs. J. E. Van Horn, New York City, Mrs. E. V. Edmonson, Berkeley Springs; Mary M. Haas, Washington, D. C.; J. Joseph Haas, Wilbur A. Haas, and Marcella and Helen Haas, all of Martinsburg.

Cargo Vessel Sinks In Gulf of Mexico

A GULF COAST PORT, June 21 (AP)—A small cargo vessel was sunk in the Gulf of Mexico without warning by an enemy submarine June 17 with the loss of one life, the navy revealed today.

One torpedo struck it at 7 a. m. Central War Time and ship was fired on about thirty-five times from a four-inch deck gun before finally sinking.

The crew was composed of seven Norwegian and two Swedes. One Norwegian was killed and three others wounded.

The survivors were brought to a Gulf coast port. Coast guard June 18, and one was hospitalized.

Beaverbrook Asks For Second Front

Must Be No Unnecessary Delay in Sending Expedition, He Declares

BIRMINGHAM, England, June 21 (AP)—Lord Beaverbrook, who has been one of Prime Minister Churchill's closest collaborators in industrial production for war, declared today, "there must be no unnecessary delay in sending forth with a second expeditionary force to fight on a second front."

Addressing a crowd observing the anniversary of the German attack on Russia, one day in advance, Beaverbrook said also, "we have been promised a second front. We have been promised it by the government. Now the need is for urgency."

He said that Russia's campaign last winter was "the greatest study in the annals of man's fighting in this century" and that the Germans narrowly escaped complete defeat in the winter months.

Beaverbrook expressed belief that the British army already is adequately equipped for a second front in Europe, adding, "now is the time for us to show we are warriors of the world, not by money and munitions, of plans or projects but by hard, sharp blows and killing and killing."

He said the Russian pilots had shot down 12,000 German planes in the past year.

He advocated that the British cultivate "a stern and righteous hatred" for the Germans and the Japanese and "contempt for the misguided Italians."

With Our Boys In the Service

The War department yesterday notified Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Boyland, 303 1/2 Puaski street, that their son, Private First Class Joseph F. Boyland, 25, of the United States Air Corps has been reported missing.

Pvt. Boyland, who was serving his second enlistment, was stationed at Bataan, in the Philippines, and would have been given a furlough in one month when his enlistment ended. He had also served in Panama and at Clark Field. He was reported missing from May 7.

Before enlisting Boyland was employed at the Celanese Corporation and had attended Allegheny high school. A brother, Eugene W., is with the Motor Mechanical Department of the Navy at Norfolk, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Welsh, 514 Riel avenue, have received word that their son, Elmer E. Welsh, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant at Camp Wheeler, Ga.

Pvt. Charles S. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin, 611 North Mechanic street, has been transferred from Camp Wheeler, Ga., to Fort Bragg, N. C., and is now in an anti-tank company with the Eighty-eighth Infantry, First Battalion. He was formerly employed by the Celanese Corporation.

Pvt. Arthur T. Amtower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Amtower, 203 Arch street, is stationed with the Nineteenth Ordnance Company, Camp Polk, La. He enlisted three months ago.

Joseph E. Wheeler, son of Mrs. Joseph A. Wheeler, Long, has received a furlough from the Corps Christi Naval Air Base and has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marines. He returned home for a few days and was accompanied by his parents on his return as far as New Orleans, and thence proceeded alone to the West Coast to report for duty.

Alton H. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Robinson, also of Long, has been promoted to private first class and is stationed at Drew Field, Tampa, Fla.

D. C. Schaefer, Second Class Gunner's Mate, U.S.N., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schaefer, Grantsville. Schaefer saw action at Pearl Harbor last December 7.

Private Harold Noonan, son of Mrs. Mollie Noonan, 315 Broadway, has been transferred from Miami, Fla., to Langley Field, Va., where he is a clerk in the commanding officer's headquarters of the Air Corps.

U. S. Marine Sergeant Curtis MacArthur Kime, former member of the Cumberland police force, is in charge of the Marine detachment at the radio station of the S. Naval Academy, Annapolis. Sgt. Kime spent the weekend here.

Private Raymond Humbertson, U.S.M.C., Parris Island, son of Mrs. Ace Humbertson, 621 Greene street, has been assigned to the Field Music School there.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Stitche, 417 Valley street, have been notified that their son, Private Carl Andrew Stitche, has arrived overseas safely.

Mrs. Mae R. Orndorff, 115 Willis Creek avenue, has received word that her son, Private Charles Melvin Orndorff, has arrived safely in Puerto Rico. He has been in the service since January.

Private First Class John J. Harvey, former employee of the Cumberland Post Office, has taken up the same work but at a new location. Pvt. Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Harvey, 211 Race street, is one of the clerks in the Army office of the Hawaiian district.

Network Books Don Ameche and Lorella Young

They Will Co-Star in Air-wave Version of Bedtime Story

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 21—Don Ameche steps up to the microphone of the CBS Radio Theater Monday night to play in a kilocycle version of "Bedtime Story." With him as co-star in this 9 o'clock broadcast will be Lorella Young.

Cavalcade of America, another of the Monday night dramatic features, is borrowing Jean Hershoff from CBS at 8 on NBC for a story of the American revolutionary days, "The Battle of the Clouds." . . . Then if it's more drama you'd like to tune in, there's "The Counter-Spy" on the Blue at 10. It will have "The Case of the Border Invaders."

In tribute to John B. Hughes, west coast commentator of MBS now in New York, a special broadcast at 8:15 on that network will originate from aboard a Chinese Junk anchored in Long Island Sound. The Tribute, by Chinese officials in this country for his work on behalf of that nation, will include Mrs. Wellington Koo, wife of the Chinese ambassador to Great Britain.

Russian Relief Event

Harry Hopkins, Maxim Litvinoff, Russian ambassador and others will speak at a Russian war relief rally via Blue at 9. . . . The Nazi conquest of Czechoslovakia is to be depicted in the new CBS series, "To Freedom," at 10:30-east.

Bruce Barton, former New York representative, speaks on "Advertising in Wartime" in a CBS pickup at 3:30 from the convention of the American Advertising Federation. Maurice Liu of the Chinese consulate in Los Angeles, is to report on a tour of his homeland for the Spotlight on Asia series of CBS at 4:30.

Father and Son Are Reunited

Soldier at Fort Meade Meets Father after Twenty-one Years

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md., June 21 (AP)—Today brought Norman G. West of Baltimore the best father's day present of them all—reunion with his son after a separation of 21 years.

West walked into the mess hall where his son is first cook, and said "Jiminy" to Sgt. James Dennis West and the two embraced.

Until late afternoon, they were full of the stories of the happenings of more than two decades.

When the sergeant was a small boy his parents separated, and he went to live with his mother in New Jersey. Yesterday West received a letter postmarked Fort Meade.

"I got your name and address out of a telephone book," it said, "I am trying to locate my father."

The likeness of the name was probably just a coincidence, the letter continued, but "I hope you don't mind if I ask you some questions. . . . Did you ever live in Mounty Holly, N. J.?" . . . Have you a son by the name of James Dennis? . . . I was born on May 29. I haven't seen my father for 21 years. . . . Hoping to hear from you soon."

After years of seemingly hopeless search for his father, this time it was the right Norman G. West.

Striking Employees

Vote to Return To Work Immediately

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., June 21 (AP)—Striking employees of the Marietta Manufacturing Company, voted unanimously at an AFL-sponsored meeting today to head War Labor Board request and return to work while the board adjusts the dispute which led to the walkout last Tuesday.

The vote came at a meeting attended by approximately 1,000 workers, including members of the International Brotherhood of Iron Shipbuilders, Welders and Helpers Union.

Afterwards, President C. O. Weisenberger of the company said that "everything will be ready to operate," starting with the Monday morning shift.

The vote to return to work at the shipyard was unexpected. Shortly before the meeting started, a union spokesman had said that the "walk-out is going to continue."

$2,000 Damages Are Sought in Suit Filed By Daisy Adams

Daisy Adams filed suit in circuit court Saturday against Joseph Leasure, asking $2,000 damages, as the result of an automobile collision near the Winnow street subway, April 19.

According to her attorney, Edward J. Ryan, she was a passenger in Leasure's car, and sustained severe injuries about the face and head when the machine collided with another car.

A suit by titling was docketed by Charles Sheetz, against William Ralph Seibert, North Centre street. The basis of the action is not yet filed.

Celanese Will File $35,000,000 Issue

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—Financial circles heard yesterday that the Celanese Corp., of America was planning to file with the S. E. C. at Philadelphia an issue of $35,000,000 of debentures. It was reported they would run 20 years and carry an interest rate of 3 1/2 per cent. It was understood Dillon, Read & Co. and Glorie, Forgan & Co. would head the underwriting group with the debentures reaching the market about the middle of July.

Wool Is Available For Sweaters

Wool for sweaters, for victims of submarine attacks and general disaster, is now available at the Red Cross room in the basement of the post office building, according to an announcement made by the Allegheny County Chapter, American Red Cross.

The wool may be procured by individuals or groups from 1 to 4 p. m. today, Wednesday, Thursday or Friday. Mrs. James McQuown is in charge of the production room.

Some WPA Spending In West Virginia

FEDERAL PATERNALISM—which can be called in some instances and plain vote-buying in others—has had a pretty fair demonstration over in West Virginia where the Democrats have been running things high and handsome for quite a spell.

Recently, Senator Kilgore announced, with a clashing of verbal symbols, that the WPA would allow the neat little sum of $405,107 to the state for the training of bands, choruses and orchestras. That is a goodly sum for such a purpose, so goodly, indeed, that the Charleston Mail was moved to exclaim that it is, or ought to be, enough money to train and costume the Heavenly Choir.

But there is an "inside" to the story, which Senator Kilgore neglected to notice in his announcement. That disclosure was left to the economy-minded Senator Byrd, of Virginia, who tells all about it in an article in the current issue of the American Magazine.

The state WPA representative, whether out of modesty or shame, asked the government for only $123,747 to finance the musical education of its clients in the fine art of the sliphorn, bull fiddle and bass drum and provide the instruments, if necessary. Washington took one look at this slim proposal and shuddered. "It didn't say 'No,'" writes Senator Byrd. "Incredibly, it said, 'That isn't enough. You can spend in West Virginia alone up to $405,107.' It was so eager to spend, instead of save, that it voluntarily gave the West Virginia musicians' project $281,360 more than it asked for."

It is pertinent to note that all this happened some time after this nation was forced into the world blitzkrieg and it did not require the aid of an economist, or an astronomer, to understand that billions upon billions of dollars would be required to pay for it, nor to grasp the simple fact that it would be a big puzzle as to where that expense money was to be found.

But that, apparently, didn't matter. The WPA fellows were evidently out to justify its existence—and their own jobs—and there should be costs, of course, to which they could point. But they do not appear very impressive in the light Senator Byrd has thrown upon them.

Taxing Business So It Will Survive

MEMBERS of the House Ways and Means committee at Washington have obviously been influenced by British experience in agreeing in principle on a post-war refund of part of the corporate excess profits which would be taxed at a flat ninety-four per cent rate under provisions of the pending tax measure.

The British have an excess profits tax of 100 per cent, but it is not computed on a year-by-year basis through the war and then forgotten. It is carried over into the post-war years, losses then suffered are charged back against war profits and the excess tax is applied only against the actual excess, if any, of the overall period.

That is simple justice. In agreeing to the principle of the thing, the Washington committee have recognized the necessity of post-war rehabilitation and reconstruction, which will present serious problems when the war production is changed back into peaceful pursuits and it will be necessary to thwart disastrous depression with its train of hardships and joblessness. Business and industry will have a gigantic and costly work to do in readjusting to the new situation, industry especially in re-tooling its plants to produce goods for civilian needs.

One commentator pertinently directs attention to the story of the farmer who installed sun lamps in his chicken house to make his hens lay eggs twenty-four hours a day. The farmer got more eggs all right, for the first week or so—but his hens died. So, in laying war taxes on business, congressmen have a similar problem to consider.

A New Spirit In The Making

SOMEONE once said that history does not repeat itself—that historians repeat each other. But apparently Charles Warren, president of the Harvard Alumni Association, believes that there is danger that the attitude which was prevalent among the young people of America in the period following the First World War again may prevail when this war is over.

Speaking before the Harvard Alumni association, he said the colleges and schools of the country must see to it that there shall not be another period of disillusionment for students similar to that which many of them went through in recent years.

"Young men must be taught," he said, "that America is much more than the mere result of class interests and sectional influences. They must learn that the men who made America had aspirations and beliefs apart from their personal fortunes.

"The Twenties are gone with their self-indulgence. The Thirties have disappeared with self-pity. The Forties are here, in which Americans stand on a continent as men fighting for a homeland in a world fit to be the home of man."

Mr. Warren's fears that the post-war era will bring disillusionment may be discounted. This is a different type of war than was the First World War. In that conflict the nation's island possessions were not attacked by an enemy who did not take the trouble to declare war, nor were huge and rich territories seized. American cities were not in danger of being annihilated from the air. American coasts were not shelled by enemy vessels. Even the most obtuse schoolboy must understand today that the existence of the nation is seriously threatened.

It is extremely doubtful whether as he grows to maturity he will view this war as an earlier generation looked upon the First World War. There is an American of a new type being hammered out in this struggle. A new spirit is in the making.

Honey a Substitute For Sugar

HONEY has acquired a greater importance in the home now that sugar is on the rationing list, especially to the housewife who does much of her own baking. Tests have proved that, if used correctly, it serves as an excellent substitute for sugar. Many persons even prefer it to sugar in coffee and in some foods. There are other substitutes, but honey is well known and easily obtained.

The housewife, as well as the commercial baker, may find that the substitution of honey for sugar will require some experimenting. Honey is about one-fifth water, which fact must be allowed for in measuring ingredients. Baking with honey requires a slightly lower temperature than with sugar. American ingenuity will not be outwitted by such small matters, however, and no doubt the housewife will find a way to use more honey if the sugar shortage warrants it.

The CCC may be abolished, but it is still a mystery why the administration created it in the first place, as its enrollees were too young to vote.

Leading Nazis plan to hide in Turkey when their regime collapses. But what if the Turks object to the smell?

The good old days were those when Congress appointed a committee to go over and survey the Philippines.

The Browser's Bookshelf

By MARSHALL MASLIN

It seems that the only time Quentin Reynolds ever finds to write a book is when he's on a slow boat coming home from a war. In between voyages he's too busy reporting wars, talking with other correspondents, drinking, playing poker, getting out of scrapes, and hunting for laughs.

Reynolds wastes no words on learned analyses of the causes of wars; his job is to be where men are fighting and to describe what he sees and the men he meets. He's not the best writer among the correspondents, but he is always the keen-eyed reporter, and the result is hard-hitting graphic description of men in action. And because his courage is obvious he sometimes gets into tougher spots than a more skin-conscious writer would find himself.

So you find in his "Only the Stars Are Neutral" (Random) two great chapters (20 and 21) about war in the African desert. Surrounded by the Germans and bombed with deadly accuracy from above he lived through a brutal night in which he anticipated death momentarily.

How did Reynolds get to Africa, anyway? Well, news was scarce in England in the spring of 1941 and he pulled every wire in sight to get to Russia. He got there, spent three months, saw nothing of the war, only a little of the remarkable Russian people—and pulled out. His greatest battle was with the censors who smothered the war for the correspondents who were ordered out of Moscow to Kuliyshev and were never allowed at the front. He hates Russian censors.

He flew out of Russia with Litvinov and Ambassador Steinhardt and Sir Walter Monckton and came down in Cairo just in time to be a part of the big British push in the desert. When that came to an end he flew to Malta and Lisbon and England and crossed the Atlantic in a freighter that was part of a storm-tossed submarine-protected convoy—and somewhere between Cardiff and Halifax he wrote this lively, honest book.

The man's all right and his new book is a treasure of good stories about the men who fight a war and the men who try to describe it. Robert Norman Hubner's novel "The Fabulous People" (Knopf) has a number of qualities—humor, fantasy, imagination, and bitterness. The author is a San Francisco newspaperman who spent a year in Japan as Sunday editor of the Japan Times and as publicity writer for the World's fair that was to be held in Tokyo in 1940.

His time is 1939 in Tokyo, when the Japanese were warring in China and hiding their plans for the conquest of the Pacific. His people are the American newspaperman who tells the story, a lovely Japanese girl whom he loves, an American publicity agent who will work for anybody, a Turk who is frequently being flung into jail by the Japanese, the Princess Salote of the Friendly Islands, a Russian girl named Jadwiga who must marry an American passport if she is to get out of Japan—and Mr. Ichihara who is quite a decent little spy.

The story is more "charming"; it is a serious picture of the Japan that was already corroded by ambition before Mr. Hubner came upon the scene.

Henry J. Taylor, the businessman-correspondent who wrote "Time Runs Out" is a descendant of Aaron Burr. Do you know who first coined the word "whodunit" to describe murder mysteries? It was Donald Gordon of the American News Company in July, 1930.

Rachel Field's "And Now Tomorrow" has a theme that Miss Field used many years ago, when she wrote a play about a girl who became deaf. Emily Blair, heroine of this novel becomes deaf just before her marriage.

Lloyd Douglas's new novel "The Robe" out in the autumn, has taken most of this theme for two years. . . . That's enough from Marshall Maslin.

Big Things Are To Be Expected From War Parley

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 21—When the president of the United States and the prime minister of Great Britain find it necessary to confer in the midst of war, especially with the hazards of travel and the great importance to each to be close to his own governmental operation, it may be assumed that significant events of transcendent significance are in the making.

David Lawrence events of transcendent significance are in the making.

The last time Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt conferred there were no announcements but in the weeks that followed the strategy adopted was gradually unfolded. Decision had to be made then as to how much aid would be extended to the Dutch East Indies or the Philippines, what would be sent to Russia and how the European fronts would be supplied notwithstanding the demands of Australia and our own Mid-Pacific situation.

Today it may be assumed that big decisions will be made that will not be announced this coming week and perhaps not at all. For the determinations must necessarily concern the next and most vital step in the war.

Weighty Questions

Where shall the second front be opened? And when? How shall the American troops be mobilized and at what points? How shall the tonnage for any cross channel invasion be gathered and what will be the nature of the heavy air attacks that will be made by American bombers, as well as the R.A.F., as the Allies start their biggest offensive of the war?

Will there be attempts at Norway at the same time? Will the American troops be entrusted with the invasion in France? There is some reason to believe that an American expeditionary force landed in France will be more welcome than a British force. Still the movement will have to be an Allied affair in order to utilize air power and sea power along with land army movements.

The fact that our government officials are so ready to mention a second front as one of the things being discussed and the fact that, when the British-Soviet treaty and our own lend-and-lease agreement with Russia was proclaimed, a formal announcement of an intention to open a second front was broadcast, leads to the conclusion that the Allies want the Axis powers to be affected nervously by these moves and as soon as possible.

May Not Be Ready

The broad strategy of a second front is not being disclosed. One hears varying opinions here and there, some are contained in London dispatches to the effect that the Allies are not yet ready and that they must not risk a possible disaster by a premature move or inadequate preparations.

The United States, on the other hand, has generals and admirals and flying officers who believe that war cannot be fought indefinitely on a defensive basis and that an offensive strategy must be invoked this summer at all costs. The Russian situation, for one thing, demands relief. With Germany permitted to concentrate on Russia and the fortunes of battle in the Crimea turning toward the Nazi side, it may be taken for granted that a more propitious moment to draw Nazi troops away from the Russian front is not likely to occur.

Realization that 1942 is the decisive year of the war—the turning point—though not necessarily the year of military victory—is fundamental. So when Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt get together, it can be inferred that they are ready to exchange the secret information they both possess. Data of this kind cannot be risked by cable or radio or by courier even though put in code for the chances of intercept.

MAKES FINE RECORD

Guy W. Vaughan

The Curtiss-Wright corporation, headed by President Guy W. Vaughan, is making an impressive record in the production of several types of planes, many of which are in turn making records on the firing lines in the sky, under the skillful handling of pilots in our air forces.

Plant expansion, and co-operation on the part of other industrial firms is making it possible for Curtiss-Wright to keep increasing steadily the lines of planes that appear on the ramps at various plants.

Axis Would Boss a World Democracy Backed by a Police Force, Mallon Says

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 21 — A letter to Private Charles R. Holloman, School Squadron — Flight — Mississippi — Field, Mississippi.

Paul Mallon

In our search for peace and justice in the post-war world, we are not confronted with a choice between utopias.

It is not a question of making a heaven on earth by one means or another—rather it is a problem of looking at the world as it is and deciding what we can do about it. Primarily we must confine ourselves in this, as we do in our daily lives, to considering what is likely to work.

That is why I have objected to unrestrained idealism of some of our leaders. I am afraid that they will erect a premature idealistic state without a practical foundation and then it will crash, as they all have before, and all our hopes of peace and security will be thrown back another fifty years.

It Cannot Work

That is why I distrust the theory you suggest of a world democratic state or union of democracies, completely disarmed and ruled by an international police force. If you will analyze it fairly you will see it cannot work.

Goose and Golden Egg

From the Wheeling, W. Va., Intelligence

There is some evidence of a dawning realization in Washington that it is possible to make taxes too heavy. Responding to reactions from many sources and from widely separated points, leaders in both Houses are understood to be considering scaling down the proposed excess profits tax levy from ninety-four to ninety or even to eighty-five per cent, and to reduce the tentative normal tax of twenty-four per cent and corporate surtax of sixteen per cent.

The thought of those who feel the revenue program may be overstepping the bounds of prudence is pretty well summed up in these words of Senator Vandenberg:

"It is far less important for us to raise an additional one or two billion dollars in taxes than it is for us to preserve functioning economic resources out of which the government can safely borrow the funds to close the gap in the balance sheet."

It is encouraging to note this growing attitude of caution at Washington. Unfortunately, however, some of those who hesitate to go to extremes in upper bracket taxation have no hesitancy about going to extremes in the lower brackets.

The gentlemen of congress will be well advised if they avoid extremes in either direction, introduce every economy possible and rely upon borrowing for the difference between income and inescapable outgo.

Morning Motto

The book which you are reading aloud is Mine, Fidelitibus; but, while you read it so badly, it begins to be yours.—MARTIAL.

Washington, June 21 — A letter to Private Charles R. Holloman, School Squadron — Flight — Mississippi — Field, Mississippi.

In our search for peace and justice in the post-war world, we are not confronted with a choice between utopias.

It is not a question of making a heaven on earth by one means or another—rather it is a problem of looking at the world as it is and deciding what we can do about it. Primarily we must confine ourselves in this, as we do in our daily lives, to considering what is likely to work.

That is why I have objected to unrestrained idealism of some of our leaders. I am afraid that they will erect a premature idealistic state without a practical foundation and then it will crash, as they all have before, and all our hopes of peace and security will be thrown back another fifty years.

It Cannot Work

That is why I distrust the theory you suggest of a world democratic state or union of democracies, completely disarmed and ruled by an international police force. If you will analyze it fairly you will see it cannot work.

China has 457,000,000 people, which is much more than any other nation. In a world democracy such as you suggest, she would be the biggest force, the major power, because she could out-vote anyone. Next would be India with 350,000,000 or more. A majority of the population of the world is in Asia.

A democracy of the world would turn over to Asia the control of the world, although our common sense tells us such an idea is unthinkable. They do not even want it, or suggest it. Their people have not come to the degree of education where they can rule themselves very efficiently.

But to think of dismantling our own hard-won superiority as a nation in favor of any foreign group seems just as illogical to me. Just because they might adopt the democratic system would be no guarantee of our security.

Secretly Controlled

Japan had, and still has, a democratic system, modeled after Great Britain, with a prime minister, a cabinet and an elected parliament called the Diet. But that system, we have found in this war, if we did not know before, was secretly controlled by an empire clique, and therefore it had the effect of a dictatorship.

Even Hitler only nullified the power of the Reichstag, did not abolish it. Moscow dispatches only today begin to speak of the supreme Soviet as a parliament.

You cannot safely risk the future security of the United States on the creation alone of a democracy in Germany or Japan or elsewhere. You must have something more, much more.

As to the international police force and the question of whether it would work to keep unruly nations in line, the practical point for consideration is who will run the police force.

Insuperable Obstacles

If some nation other than ours controls it, we will not be satisfied.

If we control it, other nations will not be satisfied. If we go into it on the basis of population, India and China would control it, and I do not think that quite meets our announced American demand for maintenance of our way of life.

For myself, I do not care if you establish an international police force as long as my country has the best army, navy and air force in the world, a better one than the police force. Then I know we will get a square deal, and have peace.

You say it will be expensive to maintain such a large American force. Not as expensive as this war. Not as expensive as Vice President Wallace's plan to revise the living wages and diet of the world at our expense.

Not as expensive as any other plan now being considered to lend our money after the war for the industrialization of China, South America, India so they can make things we formerly made for them or could sell to them.

Changed by Pay

You say young men would not want to be drafted and would not want to volunteer for such a large force. You may think so now, because pacifism and impractical treaties before Pearl Harbor imbued many of our people with the fallacious notion that the defense of their country was not a sacred duty. That feeling is passing. We know different now and we can make that sacred duty an honorable profession after this war. We have made the first and greatest move in that direction by increasing the soldier's basic pay scale from $30 to $50 a month with living and allowances for dependents. The $30 a month pay pittance of pacifist days discouraged young men from entering upon arms as a profession.

The new army, navy and air force will be the best scientific training ground in the world for young men, because modern sciences now absorb that field. It will be an army of peace and not of conquest, devoted to democracy, and not territorial aggrandizement.

I want all the same things you want. I think they will come some day when human beings throughout the world are educated in the wisdom of unselfishness.

But to bulwark ourselves against future catastrophes, it is essential that we face the world as it is, and not as we would like to have it.

They Should Know a War Is On

From the Manufacturers' Record

The Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard know that this nation is at war. The AMERICAN PEOPLE know that they are at war. It is high time that politicians and the acolytes, satellites and parasites that follow, surround and infect them should realize that a war is not won with adjectives but by action.

There is no such thing as "total" war or "all out" war. War is WAR. It can't be amplified. It has to be experienced. Ask the man who carried a rifle and a can of monkey meat during the last one. Ask the boys and girls who are boys and girls no longer but men and women who have seen action in this war.

Aviators Probably Will Police World, Stewart Says

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

It seems to be about time for surface warriors to give up, as total back numbers, get off the map and leave it to aviators to police the world henceforward, from overhead.

A few days ago I had occasion to quote United States Army Chief of Staff George C. Marshall, foremost authority on the subject of our fighting equipment inlandward, as advising all West Point graduates to go in for flying, on the ground that it's a service which has become more important than anything else except aquatic strife, which is none of his belligerent business.

Now along comes Chairman Carl Vinson, of the House of Representatives' Naval Affairs committee, with news that our fleet's to disregard battleship building, at least for the indefinite future, in favor of the construction of more aircraft carriers.

"Nobody can dispute," says Congressman Vinson, "that aircraft carriers have become the backbone of a fleet."

Turning Point

"It's a turning point in naval construction," adds Senator Ralph O. Brewster.

Well, there yare! Ashore and aloft, experts appear to be agreed. The suggestion is that the tendency's going to get more so, too.

Gen. Marshall remarks that inland aviation ought to be supplemented by some preliminary education concerning the birdmen's activities after the "light."

That, however, is independent of their military function; it's regulatory of an area they've swooped down on and conquered.

The birdmen are pure fighters. They admit that their planes require taking-off-places to overshoot the places they're attacking. This calls for carriers.

Yet it mayn't call for 'em long. Suppose you've got an enemy that you want to bomb 3,000 miles away. Getting there and getting back is a bit too far, even by plane. In that event the plane's got to have a taking-off-place closer up, which calls for a carrier.

It's a situation that requires a tub somewhere reasonably near inshore. Hence the demand for carrier craft.

Bigger Mileage Coming

Presently, aviators say, planes will be able to jump an indefinite number of miles—three and four and any quantity of numbers of miles of 'em. But they can't do it yet. Oh, yes, maybe they can, and spill their bombs, but they can't get back; it'll be suicidal for 'em. Certainly they'll be willing to commit suicide, but that won't be good military tactics.

In the meantime—CARRIERS. And then, there's the question of supplies.

Delivering stuff in bulk by planes remains quite a problem. Ever had any experience with a plane?

Well, it'll do it in jig-time. Yet it won't do it by the ton. That's how it's got to be done to meet the present emergency.

That's what American aviation's figuring on.

What Lies Ahead

The whole dope's this: To finish off army operations completely; to do the same thing with naval operations pretty soon—and then, perhaps, to put all surface transportation completely on the Fritz, except slow freight, possibly.

The postoffice isn't the only outfit that's threatened.

That, of course, is in danger of the jinx, as anything but air mail, in short order, Express transportation is on the run likewise.

Even telegraphy is liable to be set guessing. Aviation isn't QUITE as quick, but it's more voluminous. If you want to write a letter, and it isn't much slower.

It's a war development, all mixed up with aviation.

Regardless of the war, it might have happened, but the war surely put a firecracker under it.

Factographs

The first iron-sided vessels built for naval use were the paddleships, Guadalupe and Montezuma, built for the Mexican government in 1842 in London.

About 9,000 tons of cigarette paper are used in the United States each year, according to the department of Commerce.

Total war, all out war—poppycock. It is war.

And while these boys and girls of ours grow old in a few days or weeks, while older men and women go about their jobs earnestly and with but one purpose what are their leaders doing? Labor leaders are only trying to lead labor. Farm leaders are only trying to lead farmers. Trade association leaders are only trying to lead their particular line of business. Political leaders are trying to face three ways at once and please each group. Leaders? Bosh!

It is time for all of us to let the salaried racketeer, the comfortably placed organization secretary, the peanut politician know that we are Americans first, and farmers, laborers, business or professional men second and not a close second at that.

It is time RIGHT NOW.

Opinions on "What Is the Seven-Year Itch?" Vary Widely, Physician Finds

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

A little while ago in this column I said that I happened to get to wondering about the term, "seven year itch," and tried to find out what it referred to but was unable to find it in the dictionary or the encyclopedia or Brewer's "Handbook for Readers" or other manuals of this general kind, and I asked my readers if anyone knew exactly what it meant.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

I have had a number of responses and am very grateful to those who have contributed to the symposium. There is, however, some difference of opinion and I am not sure I can say the question is settled yet. For instance, a reader in Asheville, North Carolina, says: "I am very much surprised to learn you don't know what the seven year itch is. I have known that since I was big enough to walk. The seven year itch is a term used when one gets too lazy to move, too lazy to take a bath, too lazy to take a walk, too lazy to wash their face and hands and too lazy to comb their own hair."

This reply is more at variance than any other. Most of the writers say that seven year itch is the scabies. Scabies is, of course, ordinarily called the itch and is due to the itch mite which gets under the skin especially on the delicate part of the hands. The only trouble with that answer is that scabies doesn't last seven years even if untreated. Some of my readers get around this difficulty by saying that it is a stubborn disease and even when treated, some spot of the skin becomes a focus for its continuance and spread, and in these cases it really lasts seven years.

Another reader says that it is the itch due to the chigger which, according to this letter, is a small insect or flea found in the West Indies and South America. The chigger is not confined to the West Indies or to South America by any means, however, as we have plenty of them in Missouri. But here again the infection never lasts more than a few days or weeks at the most.

Opinions Vary Widely

Another reader says that seven year itch is due to chemical changes, particularly soaps, that get on the hand and it takes seven years to get the chemical completely out of the system.

As can be seen, what I stated above is true: that there is a good deal of variation in opinion as to what the seven year itch is. Everybody claims to know right off the bat, but they have so many different explanations that it hardly seems possible that any of them given here is exactly and literally accurate. My idea is that it was some sort of an historic event like the plagues of Egypt and that some people somewhere were afflicted with it and it passed into the language as an illusion. But although I have been endeavoring to find an answer to the question as hard as anybody, I am still in the dark about it. Maybe if we found out what it was, we could send it as a curse on the Japs or the Italians and even up the score a little bit.

Questions and Answers

R. B.:—Does a growing girl need the cream of the milk, or would it be a good idea to skim it for her? Does she have to eat at each meal until she feels satisfied? Is it wise to cut out sweets entirely in her diet?

Answer: These questions are asked concerning a twelve-year-old girl who is overweight and gaining weight. Under these circumstances cream and sweets can safely be eliminated from the diet. It certainly is not necessary for a person with a tendency to overweight to eat until she is satisfied. In fact, an opposite plan would be in order.

Theaters Today

Scene of "Kings Row" Might Be Any Town

Henry Bellmann, author of the novel upon which Warner Brothers picture, "Kings Row," now at the Strand theater, is based, insists that the town of Kings Row and its characters are purely imaginary.

Residents of Fulton, Mo., where Bellmann spent his early years and where his family still resides, dispute that, asserting that they recognize some of Fulton's families in the controversial story.

The Warners has been successful in creating a typical Mid-Western town as the locale for the picture was indicated when Robert Cummings reported at the Burbank studio to start with Ann Sheridan, Ronald Reagan, Betty Field, Claude Rains, Kaaren Verne and other principals being directed by Sam Wood.

Amazed by the huge set designed by Art Director Cary Weyl, Cummings remarked:

"I feel just like I was back in my boyhood home."

The actor is a native of Joplin, Missouri.

Adolph Menjou Cast In New Picture Role

One of the best-liked character actors on the screen, Adolph Menjou has one of the top roles in "Syncopation." William Dieterle's dramatic musical romance for RKO Radio, now playing at the Liberty theater.

Menjou plays an aristocratic Southerner who goes to Chicago to seek his fortune and that of his motherless daughter. How the girl sets out to crusade for freer rhythms in the dance music field, and her love affair with a young trumpet player, makes up the theme of the unusual picture.

Bonita Granville as the girl and Jackie Cooper as the youthful musician have the other starring roles, with George Bancroft in a co-featured role.

"King Kong," the thrillingly imaginative story of a prehistoric ape, taken captive and brought to New York, where it throws the metropolis in a panic, and creates tremendous devastation, is due Wednesday at the Liberty.

Pay Wray plays the girl whose frail, golden beauty so entrances the great beast that his heart for the first time in its seven million years of existence, knows no emotion of tenderness. It is on the girl's behalf that "King Kong" fights prehistoric dinosaurs on his native heath, and later panics a great city.

IRISH TENOR

Jimmie Brown, above, is one of the featured singers with Blue Barron and his orchestra who is appearing on the Maryland theater stage Wednesday for one day only.

Cabot portray two adventurers seeking to get a motion picture of a legendary ape and to make a drama out of his reactions to the beauty of a woman.

Blue Barron Coming To Maryland Wednesday

Blue Barron's rise to fame as a nationally known radio, recording, movie and dance band maestro dates back to 1937, when the management of the Floating Palace, a showboat at Troy, New York, engaged the Barron orchestra for a tryout after having played some of the nation's biggest name bands.

Blue, who brings his orchestra to the Maryland theater Wednesday, made an overnight hit at the Floating Palace, and remained there for twenty-one weeks. Next came engagements in Rochester and Tonawanda, New York, and then the Southern Tavern in Cleveland, with nightly broadcasts over WTAM and the NBC net work.

It was the Cleveland engagement which was really the turning point in Blue Barron's career. Mrs. Maria Kramer, owner of the Edison and Lincoln hotels in New York City and the Roosevelt in Washington, heard the band on the air from Cleveland and liked it so well she phoned Barron in Cleveland and asked the time and day of his next broadcast.

No Blue Barron broadcast, not even his Sunday series for the United States Division of Physical Fitness, was ever planned so painstakingly or rehearsed so thoroughly as that "next broadcast" from Cleveland. It was appreciated in New York, too, for a month later the Barron band was playing in the Green Room of the Edison, just off Broadway.

Their first New York engagement was extended repeatedly, until they had been at the Edison for nine months—and it was only the first of five engagements the Barron band has played at the Edison, where it is practically a fixture. In between Edison engagements, the band has played the Strand and Paramount theaters in New York City, and theaters, hotels and one-nighters as far afield as Dallas. But every time the band re-opens at the Edison, two "openings" on two successive nights are necessary to take care of the welcoming crowds.

"Washington Adventure" On Way to Garden

Youth in action! Scandal in Congress! Moderns in love! Thrill a lot... laugh a great deal... and sob just a little... at this memorable adventure in drama, Columbia's sensational "Adventure in Washington."

Starring Herbert Marshall and Virginia Bruce, the new Columbia romantic drama opens Wednesday at the Garden theater, with Gene Reynolds featured. Whirling out of the world's most exciting capital, "Adventure in Washington" is one of the year's most exciting adventure stories!

In the cast, in addition to the principals are Samuel S. Hinds and Ralph Morgan. Alfred E. Green directed.

Abbott and Costello Star in Embassy Film

Bud Abbott and Lou Costello celebrate their twelfth year together in a highly explosive comedy called "Rio Rita," which ends today at the Embassy theater.

The picture has nice balance, with Kathryn Grayson and John Carroll providing colorful romance and song. An amusing plot affords a reasonable background for the comedians, if one were needed and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer gave the vehicle elaborate production touches.

Eros Volusia, famous Brazilian dancer, makes her screen debut in a series of novel rhythms, including the Samba, which she created. T his adds to the variety of the production, which unquestionably gives

John A. Cupler, II, Will Wed Miss Margaret Durst Today

Ceremony Will Be Performed at "Happy Hills" Home near Frostburg

Before an improvised altar, decorated in pink and white gladioli and candelabra of white tapers, Miss Margaret R. Durst, daughter of Mrs. Olin F. Durst, Colonial Apartments, Narrows Park, will become the bride of John A. Cupler, II, LaVale, today.

The ceremony will be solemnized at 4 o'clock at "Happy Hills," Frostburg, the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hafer, brother-in-law and sister of the bride-elect. The Rev. William A. Eisenberger, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Cumberland, will officiate.

Mrs. G. Morgan Smith will be matron of honor and her cousin's only attendant, Lewyn Davis will serve as Mr. Cupler's best man.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her uncle, Lloyd Durst, Lonaconing, will be attired in a gown of French Chantilly lace, made with a low torso and step-up-set to a peak in the front giving an upward swing and a tight waist line. The sweetheart neckline is outlined in a seed pearl design, and the long sleeves taper to a tiny point on the hand. The full skirt ends in a sweeping train. Her shoulder length veil of illusion will be held by a halo of pearls and she will carry blue delphiniums.

The matron of honor will wear a very delicate pink lace and marquisette gown, made with a molded long torso and a lace yoke with a rather high sweetheart neckline. It has short puff sleeves and the full-gathered skirt has a short train. She will wear a flower arrangement of shell pink gladioli and delphiniums on blue maline in her hair, and carry a streamer of shell pink and deeper pink gladioli with a touch of delphinium backed with blue maline.

Mrs. Durst, mother of the bride, has chosen a tucked white chiffon with an ice-blue print, with which she will wear white accessories and a corsage of American beauty roses.

Mrs. Cupler, grandmother of the bridegroom, will wear a gown of delf blue chiffon, white accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

The bride-elect is a member of the faculty of Allegheny high school and holds degrees from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich., and Duke university, Durham, N. C.

Mr. Cupler is a graduate of Allegheny high school and attended Potomac State college, Keyser. He is owner and general manager of the National Jet Company, LaVale.

The entire house is elaborately decorated with gladioli, delphinium, pink and white roses for the ceremony and the wedding reception which will follow, to which 150 guests have been invited.

Mrs. O. M. Marquis will preside at the refreshments table where the bridal motif will be carried out and a three tiered wedding cake will form the central decorations. She will be assisted by Mrs. Harry W. Matheny, Mrs. Lloyd Durst, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Lewyn Davis, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride will wear a soldier, blue crepe costume suit, pink flower hat and black accessories for the wedding trip to the Great Lakes.

After July 1, the couple will be home at the Colonial apartments.

He Realizes too Late

Dear Miss Fairfax: Looking over your column the other day I saw a reference to a Florence Crittenton Home. It's absolutely impossible for me to do all I'd like for a girl for whose condition I'm responsible. I'm a bookkeeper on a small salary, married, have three children and other obligations. But I'm not going to walk out completely on this girl who, I fear, may be tempted to take her own life.

Will you be kind enough to publish a list of the Florence Crittenton Homes in your column so that I could take up costs and charges with one of them? The girl in question is only 17 years of age.

PENITENT.

There are fifty-eight Florence Crittenton Homes in the United States, and as space in this column is at a premium, it would be absolutely impossible for me to publish a list of them. You've not sent me your personal address, to which I should have been very glad to write, enclosing the address of the Home in the county where this girl lives.

There is a nominal charge for those girls who can afford to pay for the splendid care they receive in these Homes.

Your letter, which I have not given in full, abounds in secrecy. Please forgive me for inquiring if you're so terrified that your place in the community would be imperiled by the knowledge of your responsibility for this girl, why you didn't give these things a thought in the first place?

If you write and enclose a self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope, I will give you what information I have.

Colfax Rebekah Lodge Observes Its Anniversary

Assembly Officers Participate in Program Given at Rally Here

In celebration of the fifty-sixth anniversary of Colfax Rebekah Lodge, No. 1 a "Comparison Opening" was held at the annual Rebekah Rally of Western Maryland lodges Saturday evening in the I.O.O.F. hall, South Mechanic street. Members of the local lodge, attired in the costumes of the time reenacted the institution of the lodge, June 21, 1886, and the records for that year were read. Members taking part were Mrs. Goldie Diehl, Mrs. Mary Ayres, Miss Ella Trutch, Mrs. Elizabeth Diehl, Mrs. Mary Myers, Mrs. Esther Shannon and Mrs. Lucy Welsh.

The present officers, dressed in white evening gowns, then opened the 1942 lodge in an impressive comparison. Miss Catherine M. Ayers, special deputy, and chairman of the rally, introduced the assembly officers and each was presented with a patriotic corsage. The following officers of the grand lodge of Maryland were introduced.

Harry Fisher, grand master; Edward C. Ryall, deputy grand master; J. F. Sinn, grand secretary; and George Seiders, grand conductor. Talks were given by assembly and grand lodge officers.

Rally Opened Saturday

The rally opened Saturday afternoon with the following taking part in the ceremony: Mrs. Esther Zihlman, past noble grand; Mrs. Donna Gattrell, Mrs. Verna Hicks, vice grand; Mrs. Lucy Welsh, recording secretary; Mrs. Emma Cessna, financial secretary; Miss Catherine M. Ayers, treasurer; Mrs. Stella Curtis, warden; Mrs. Anna Johnson, conductor; Mrs. Caroline Walsh, color bearer; Mrs. Martha Weller, chaplain; Mrs. Mary Ayers, outside guard; Mrs. May Myers, inside guard; Mrs. Esther Shannon and Mrs. Alice Scott, right and left sentinel to the noble grand; Mrs. Iola Shultz and Mrs. Viola Hudson, right and left sentinel to the vice-grand.

After the opening of the lodge, the ceremony of the draping of the charter was conducted by Mrs. Goldie Diehl assisted by Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Diehl, Mrs. Zihlman, Mrs. Shannon, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Ethel Creighton, Mrs. Katherine Kerns and Mrs. Anna Johnson.

Miss Ayers then introduced the following assembly officers:

COSTLY KISS

Fifty grand may seem like a lot to pay for a kiss, but when the young lady who owns the lips is Lana Turner that puts a different light on the subject. The startled man in the photo is J. M. Ryder of the Washington Mutual Bank in Seattle. He had just turned over his firm's check for a $50,000 bond and the grateful film star showed her appreciation with a resounding kiss. It all happened at a bond selling rally where Lana sold $321,626 worth of war bonds.

Ceremony Is Performed in Grace Methodist Church of This City

Miss Jeanne Arthur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Arthur, 911 Ridgedale avenue, and Richard Allen Hardy, son of Henry A. Hardy, and the late Mrs. Mary Hardy, Camden, S. C., were married yesterday afternoon.

The ceremony was performed at 4:30 o'clock in Grace Methodist church with the Rev. Charles M. LeFev, officiating. Arrangements of palms, white gladioli and white candles were used to decorate the church.

The wedding party included Miss Valencia Arthur, who was her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. Frank Peters the matron of honor. Harry C. Hardy was his brother's best man and Neal Arthur, brother of the bride, and Thomas Pennall were the ushers.

John Mongillo, Philadelphia baritone and friend of the bridegroom, sang "At Dawning" and "I Love Thee." "Largo" and "Intermezzo" from Baballeria Rusticana, with Mrs. Alvin Wilson at the organ. Mrs. Wilson also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother William Arthur, Jr., as her father, engaged in government work in Panama, was unable to obtain an airplane to come north. She was attired in a gown of white satin made on the long torso lines with a sweeping train, a sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves. Her finger-tip length veil of tulle was held by a coronet of seed pearls, and her only ornament was a string of pearls. She carried a white Bible with an orchid marker. The Bible was a gift from her pastor, the Rev. Mr. LeFev.

The maid of honor's gown was of horizon blue marquisette, made complementary to the bride's with sheer bodice, short puff sleeves and a full skirt. Her shoulder length veil of matching blue was held by an arrangement of natural flowers and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of spring flowers.

The matron of honor was attired in yellow chiffon with matching veil and flowers.

Mrs. Arthur wore a navy blue crepe gown for her daughter's wedding, with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The bride is a graduate of State Teachers college, Frostburg, and is music teacher in the elementary schools of Cumberland. She is a member of the adult choir of Grace Methodist church and director of the girls' choir.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Camden high school and Bowman's Technology, Lancaster, Pa. He is employed by the Bendix Aviation Corporation in Philadelphia.

A wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. The bridal motif was carried out in the decorations of the home and bridal table. Approximately fifty guests attended.

Gas, Rubber Rationing Hits Parking Meter Revenue in Clarksburg

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., June 21. — The city council of Clarksburg is thinking about installing horse rings on its parking meters to allow horsemen to tie up their steeds.

It's a fact that central West Virginia motorists are saving gasoline, rubber, cars and nickels. In fact they're saving them to such an extent that the once populated parking meters on the streets of Clarksburg are now just reminders of days before the war. In other days a three-block walk was considered too long and Clarksburg was making plenty on its parking meters.

Now, City Clerk Lloyd Griffin says, the parking meter revenue is dropping fast.

D. C. spent the weekend here with his mother, Mrs. Nellie Thompson, 84 East Main street.

Officers Chosen By Sunday School Convention

Somerset Group Re-elects the Rev. J. E. Gindlesperger President

MEYERSDALE, Pa., June 21. — At the closing session Friday of the Somerset county area Sunday school convention of the Evangelical and Reformed church, held in the Stony-creek township high school at Shanksville, the Rev. J. E. Gindlesperger, Meyersdale, pastor of the Willis Creek charge, was re-elected president of the association.

Other officers elected were Rev. John Bethune, Berlin, first vice-president; Charles Brant, Berlin, second vice-president; Mrs. Carl Grove, Meyersdale, treasurer; Mrs. John H. Deane, Shanksville, secretary.

Mrs. W. A. Wahl, Boswell, was re-elected children's superintendent; Mrs. John B. Rinick, Somerset, was retained as young people's superintendent, and Wilson Friedline, Jenkintown, adult superintendent.

More than 300 delegates were present at the forty-ninth annual session of the convention. Guest speakers were Miss Bernice Buehler, Philadelphia; Rev. Paul R. Pontius, Greenburg, and Rev. Morris Cooper, Sharon.

Hosteller Rites Held

Rites for Mrs. Jennie Hosteller, 93, the oldest native resident of Somerset, were held this afternoon in the Hauger funeral home, with services conducted by her pastor, the Rev. J. P. Messenger, minister of the First Christian church, of which the deceased had been a member for seventy-five years.

Mrs. Hosteller was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Kline, pioneer residents of Somerset, and in her earlier life she was engaged in the teaching profession.

She attended public schools in Somerset and following her graduation from the grades she attended normal school under the directorship of Prof. Joseph Stutzman, who later became the first superintendent of schools of Somerset county.

At the age of seventeen Mrs. Hosteller taught one term of school in Maryland, probably at Grantsville.

Mrs. Hosteller was well known in Meyersdale, since her husband, William Hosteller, who died in 1912, spent the earlier years of his life in this vicinity, and after their marriage frequently visited relatives and friends here.

Surviving are two sons, Paul and Harold Hosteller, both of Somerset, nine grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren, six great-great-grandchildren, and a niece, Miss Annie Kline, Pittsburgh. Interment was in Husband cemetery.

Four Sons in Service

The second four-star mother in this community to be awarded the four-star emblem of honor pin is Mrs. Liberty Polivaine, wife of Angelo Polivaine, Meyersdale, in recognition of her four sons with the armed forces of the United States.

The sons are Second Lieutenant John Polivaine, San Francisco, Calif., unless now somewhere in the Pacific area; PFC. Henry Polivaine, stationed in Louisiana; Frank Polivaine, in Georgia, and Patsy Polivaine, at Pittsburg, N. Y.

Mrs. Frederick Raymond was the first mother of Meyersdale to receive an emblem of honor pin as the mother of four sons in the service.

Bi-Staters Lose 9-5 Battle to St. Philips

Pittsburgh Club Aided by Jackpot Homer in Fourth

Lambert Stars in Relief Role -- Kern Sparks Smokey City Attack

WESTERNPORT, June 21.—The Bi-State Colts, playing their second game of the season in Westernport's Memorial Park, were the victims of a hard-hitting St. Philips outfit of Pittsburgh this afternoon, absorbing a 9-5 defeat for their sixth setback in ten starts.

For three innings, it was anybody's game with the Saints, who copped the first half championship of the Crafon-Ingram Church League and who came here with a winning streak of nine straight contests, counting time in the first inning and once in the second.

After the Bi-Staters evened accounts with a singleton in the first and two tallies in the second, everything went smoothly until the first of the fourth when "Lefty" Bill, starting Colt hurler, was driven to cover when Frankie Barlow, St. Philips left fielder, belted the ball over the right field fence with the bases loaded to break the tie.

After that, the Dobbins were never in the game although they came within two runs of tying the score in the eighth. However, in the ninth the Smokey City tossers shoved across two more runs to sew up the game.

Ival "Speed" Lambert tossed good relief ball to the Bi-Staters, allowing only four hits in five and one-third innings. Bill was touched for the other seven St. Phil bingles.

Leading the Colts' ten-hit assault on Gergerich were "Nubs" George, Joe Geatz, "Bud" Mosser and "Jodie" Marble, each with two hits. Mosser and Marble had doubles for the losers' only extra-base smashes.

Sparkling the St. Philips crew at the plate was Kern, who drove out five hits in as many trips, including a two-bagger.

A crowd of approximately 350 turned out for "Keyser and Lou Gehrig day." The box score:

College Golfers To Clash Today

East and West Tie in Best-Ball Foursomes Preceding Tourney

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 21 (AP)—East met West today in a series of ten best-ball foursomes preceding the opening of the forty-fifth annual National Intercollegiate golf tournament but neither section of the country could claim golf supremacy at the end of the warmup competition.

Ten twosomes of the pick of the East's collegiate players played a nice number from the Western section of the country to a 5-5 tie. The decision left the two sections tied for the series also for each section has won one of the two previous encounters held in connection with the collegiate tournament.

Nearly 140 participants, representing forty-one schools, will set out in earnest tomorrow morning as qualifying play and competition for the teams championship gets under way over the sporty Chain O'Lakes course here.

Most decisive victory of today was recorded by Joe Monahan of Holy Cross and Charles Davis of Amherst, representing the East, who scored a best-ball 67, in defeating Harold Gjelme of Washington and Wade Klipp of Purdue, 7 and 6.

Charles S. "Bill" Catherman won the putting tournament staged at the Cumberland Country Club over the weekend with a score of 25. Morgan C. Harris was second with 29.

In the sixth flight of the men's spring handicap golf tournament, Frank McCagg went to the finals by defeating Louis Young one up on the nineteenth. McCagg will meet Kirk Straub for the flight title.

Reds, Phils Share Twin-Bill Honors

Errors Cost Philadelphia a Chance to Take Both Engagements

PHILADELPHIA, June 21 (AP)—Errors cost the Phils a chance to take both ends of a doubleheader from the Cincinnati Reds today. The Phils captured the first game 3-2 but the Reds garnered a ninth inning run to take the afterpiece 3-1 as Ray Starr held the Phils to five hits.

Five errors in the first game almost deprived Tommy Hughes of his second victory of the season. He pitched six-hit ball to best Johnny Vander Meer, who gave up two eighth-inning hits that spelled defeat. Danny Litwiler doubled and Ernie Koy brought him home with a single to break up a 2-2 tie.

Starr gained his tenth verdict of the year in the ninth when Bobby Bragan allowed Johnny Goodman's roller to go between his legs. Lonnie Frey, on third, promptly scampered home. There were three other Phil errors in the nightcap. Johnny Podajny was credited with the loss.

Pen-Mar Race, with Brewers, Reds Tied for First, Ends Next Sunday

With the first half championship race scheduled to end next Sunday, the Centerville (Pa.) Reds and Cumberland's Queen City Brewers will be hoping the other team loses its final contest.

Yesterday, the Reds and Brewers remained in a deadlock for first place by registering victories. Centerville stopped Wellersburg, its Pennsylvania rival, 8-7 at Centerville while the Brewers knocked Mt. Savage out of a three-way tie for the top slot by winning a 5-1 decision on the losers' diamond.

In closing contests next Sunday, the Brewers will have a tougher job than Centerville, with the locals to oppose Mt. Savage on the North End Playground field here and the Reds to invade Wellersburg.

The Queen City Brewers yesterday backed up the five-hit pitching of "Boots" Miller with a twelve-hit assault on Mt. Savage's Charles Aldridge and John Reynolds with the former being charged with the defeat.

Miller scattered hits scattered and allowed more than one hit only in the ninth when two batters banged out safeties. Mt. Savage counted its only run in the first frame when with two out, Lloyd Miller crashed a home run into deep left.

The Brewers clinched the game in the first with two runs on Joe Wagner's single. Harry Minnick's double inside the foul line past first, an infield out and Ed Athey's single.

Another Brewer run scored in the third on Wagner's double and Rich's single. In the fourth, the Queen City outfit added another brace of tallies on Don Beck's single and stolen base, "Spike" Herbold's double, an infield out and Miller's single.

Reynolds, making his first appearance on the mound for Mt. Savage, relieved Aldridge in the fourth and twirled scoreless ball the rest of the way, giving up only four safeties. The fielding of Bob Cassidy also featured.

Miller had almost everything in his own way, allowing one hit in each of the first, second and sixth and two

As Hand Browns Double Setback

Athletics Win 4 to 2 and 4 to 3 To Gain Even Break in Series

ST. LOUIS, June 21 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics abruptly stopped the St. Louis Browns' three-game winning streak today by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader, 4 to 2 and 4 to 3, to gain an even break in their four-game series.

Steve Sundra, recently acquired from Washington, made his first start for St. Louis in the second game and allowed only four hits in the five and one-third innings he pitched, but two errors by Shortstop Vernon Stephens made possible four runs in the sixth and ultimate triumph for the Mackmen.

Bob Johnson snapped out of a woeful batting slump in the first game to smash out a home run in the third inning, driving two runs ahead of him. It was his double that opened the second inning and he scored on Larry Davis's single.

George McQuinn accounted for the only St. Louis runs by polling his sixth and seventh round trippers in the first set. The scores:

First Game	AB	R	H	E	A
PHILADELPHIA	25	4	10	0	1
ST. LOUIS	25	2	10	0	1

And then we come to this modern, hard-bitten, better-conditioned, tournament-tougher, modern line-up: Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan, Sammy Snead, Craig Wood (in both camps), Lawson Little, Henry Picard, Horton Smith, Paul Runyan, Jimmy Demaret, Chick Harbert, Lloyd Mangrum, Olin Dutra, Ralph Guldahl, Johnny Dawson, and a few more.

No one can question the fact that this group has set a much faster

Stewart's Pinch Triple Is Payoff Blow as Pirates Win 7 to 3

BOSTON, June 21 (AP)—Pinch-hitter Eddie Stewart's tenth-inning triple with the bases loaded, plus the wildness of Boston pitchers and a vital error, gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7 to 3 victory over the Braves today. A scheduled second game was postponed by weather.

Outright and trailing 1 to 0 for seven innings because of Max West's ninth home run, the Pirates scored three times in the eighth on Frank Gustine's single, three bases on balls and Seby Sist's two-run miff of a throw on a force play that would have retired the side.

However, Tommy Holmes's single and Paul Waner's double gave the Braves another run in the last of the eighth, and they tied the score in the ninth on Clyde Klutts's single and Pinch-hitter Chet Ross's long double.

Pittsburgh won in the tenth on two passes, a hit batsman and Stewart's far-flung three-bagger. He scored later on an infield out.

Reds Win in Ninth

Centerville, in handling Wellersburg its eighth successive setback, fired a fifteen-hit blast at Pitchers Billy Kline and Vernon Duckworth with Roy Mickey and John Chaney each getting three blows. Robinson had three safeties, including a double, for Wellersburg.

The Reds waited until the last of the ninth to pull the game out of the fire. Wellersburg, trailing 6-3, scored twice in the eighth and then went ahead with another two-run outburst in the first of the ninth. Trailing 7-6, Centerville banged across a pair of tallies to nip Manager Bob Witt's tossers at the wire.

Centerville sent a parade of three hurriers to the mound. Stevenson was relieved by Zembower in the eighth with Alton Nave taking over with two out in the ninth to get credit for the victory.

Hale America Arguments

CHICAGO, June 21.—Golf may not hold the oratorical record in the way of debate and argument, but it isn't far off. "High east winds," as George Ade once wrote, "always prevail in the locker room."

One of the main arguments around the locker rooms of Ridgemoor has been to this effect: "Who were the greatest golfers—those who made up the period from 1920 to 1930 or the modern flock?"

This is a tough one on the vocal chords, for both sides have plenty to talk about.

The Double Link

One answer might be picked up from Gene Sarazen, the stocky Connecticut Squire.

Sarazen won his first United States open in 1922. He won again ten years later at Fresh Meadow with his famous finish—32-32-34—ten under even four's for the last twenty-seven holes. And then Gene comes along to the Lawson Little at Canterbury, Cleveland, only two years ago.

Craig Wood is another from the older guard who proved in Fort Worth last summer that he could still match the modern pace.

A Faster Pace

There isn't any debating the fact that modern golfers have set a faster pace than old-timers could offer. Their game is more standardized—a 270-yard drive and then a wallop for the pin.

But I still think they lack the variety of shots old-timers could play—the half and three-quarter iron, for example.

The dynamiter or blaster of the modern crop has made a big difference in the bunker play. You also can call it the "wedge." This old-fashioned, thin-bladed niblick was not nearly as effective. The wedge also has helped save many strokes on the shorter pitches. Here is one answer—

Anyone who can settle this argument can also settle the argument of Dempsey or Tunney against Louis. Work that one out.

Ted Lyons Scores Victory Number 250 for White Sox in Opener

CHICAGO, June 21 (AP)—Veteran Ted Lyons of Chicago's White Sox pitched his two hundred fiftieth victory for the club today by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 5 in the first game of a doubleheader, 18.77. Boston won the second, 7 to 0, behind Tex Hughson's three-hit hurling.

A single by Mike Tresh off Joe Dobson in the eighth inning scored Joe Kuhel with the run that gave Lyons his decision. Lyons shut out the Red Sox with two hits for the first five innings, but Boston rallied to tie the score in the next two frames.

In the second game Hughson allowed but one hit, a single in the fourth by Bob Kennedy, after the first inning when the White Sox failed to score despite two singles and a walk that loaded the bases with only one out. The scores:

Detroit Fails To Gain Ground

Tigers Divide Bargain Bill with Senators before 31,097 Fans

DETROIT, June 21 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers evened the score with the Senators today, but failed to gain ground in the American League race by dividing a bargain bill with the Washington Senators before a crowd of 31,097 fans.

Newsum, who hasn't had much luck against anyone but the Tigers, whose uniform he wore last year, was beaten, 4 to 1, by big Al Benton in the opener after matching pitch for pitch for seven innings.

In the ten-inning nightcap in which the runs of neither team were earned, Alejandro Carrasquel, the Senators' Venezuelan hurler, gained his first victory of the season, 3 to 2, when Relief Pitcher Virgil Trucks issued a walk with the bases jammed.

Benton started the eighth inning rally with a single. This hit, followed by singles by Billy Hitchcock and Barney McCoskey, an error, and Rudy York's double, gave the Tigers three runs.

Washington literally walked to victory in the second game. Two errors and two bases on balls gave the Senators two runs in the first inning, a lead they held until Detroit tied the score in the ninth, and an error and three walks provided their winning margin in the tenth. The scores:

Major League Managers Face Many Pitfalls in Naming All-Star Team

By IRA WOLFERT

NEW YORK, June 21.—The managers write out their selections for the big-league all-star teams tomorrow. None of the managers we've met put on the emergency brake before stepping on the gas, so there is only a modest hope of stopping them before they start. However, before they vote their votes, we should like to point out where they will go wrong. We do not know yet exactly what mistakes they will make, but we do know they'll make them.

Exhibits One and Two

Exhibit 1: After a good look at Claude Passeau in action, Leo Durocher, speaking from a heart burdened with pain, allowed as how the Cub pitcher was the best now going. "Look at the record," he elaborated. "Ten wins." But the Lip of Brooklyn was not looking at the record at the time. Instead he was looking at the goose-egg Claude Passeau had made the Dodgers lay in Brooklyn's own nest.

Exhibit 2: On a day subsequent to that heretofore described, Mort Cooper of the St. Louis Cardinals with the one arm, said arm being anchored by a shoulder, girded with muscles, disguised by a sleeve and with a ball, did knowingly and with due premeditation make pass the aforementioned arm through the air numerous times, causing the Giants to react in a manner as unmanly as the Dodgers. Laying an egg, particularly a goose egg, is not a manly habit. Immediately thereafter, Mel Ott, manager of the Giants, neglected to mention that Leo Durocher was crazy, being a man who abstains from platitudes. What he did say was that anybody who thought Mort Cooper wasn't the best pitcher in the league was crazy.

Summation: This would make it seem that the starting pitcher for the National League will be either Claude or Mort. But nobody, as far as we know, mentions the fact that Mort Cooper is the pitcher that he is because his Brother Walt catches him.

Psychology is an important factor in whether a pitcher can "find the plate" as they say, at any given moment, but the baseball fans and managers pay small attention to psychology.

How It Works

For which, thank goodness, we have kept ourself in walk-around money because of this failing by the simple device of betting on balls and strikes.

But, alas, Rizzuto is hitting only .295 and the managers are suckers for the long-ball hitters or, anyway, think the fans are—North American Newspaper Alliance.

Delicatets Seek City Loop Crown

Lacy's Need Victory over West Side To Win First Half Title

Two games this evening and another pair of contests Wednesday will bring the first half championship race of the City Softball League to a close.

Today, Lacey's Delicatets will attempt to clinch the title when they tangle with the second-place West Side Merchants at 6 o'clock on the North End Playground field. Keegan's Collegians, as well as the Merchants, still have a chance of winning the crown.

If the Merchants can get past the Delicatets today and also turn back the Central Y.M.C.A. at Campobello Wednesday, then the West Siders will win.

Going into today's games, the setup finds the Delicatets with ten victories and five losses. West Side with nine wins and five setbacks, and the Collegians with eight triumphs and six reverses.

The Collegians will tangle with the "Y" outfit at Campobello today while Wednesday's other battle is Keegan's and the North End Social and Athletic Club on the North End Playground diamond.

Recent roster changes, as announced by President Cliff Fearer, followed:

Delicatets—Signed Richard Morgan and Joe Horworth and released Homer Sarver, Charles Lapp and Jim Whiteman.

Y.M.C.A.—Signed William Sheetz and released Ed Shook.

North End—Signed Bernard Barnard and Bill Spangler.

"The Authority on Authorities."

WHEN THERE is a sound major suit available—that is, eight trumps, regardless of whether there be four in declarer's hand and four in dummy, or with them divided in some other way—it is nearly always safer to play for game in that suit than in No Trumps. That is especially so if the side's two hands both contain doubletons or singletons in different suits, which may be liabilities at No Trumps, but are assets for suit play because of the ruffing possibilities.

Notice how much better South bid at Table 2 on this deal. His call of 3-Hearts gave North a chance to make the same 3-No Trumps call as the other table, and in addition a whack at 4-Hearts if it happened North held four of them, as he did. In other words, South covered more possibilities with his second bid. North's response of 2-No Trumps on the first round was eminently correct, with so many suits that would be better with the lead coming up to them than through them.

At Table 1, North took a pasting, since East was a player with vision. With the opponents having bid hearts and clubs, his choice of lead was between spades and diamonds. Deciding his own hand was too weak for his spade suit to be hopeful, and that diamonds would surely be his partner's suit, he led the diamond K. North ducked, and the J was then led to the A. North's only apparent chance now was to find one defender holding originally only two diamonds, plus the heart A, so he led a heart, but when West won that, he sent North to defeat with three more diamonds.

At Table 2, South received an opening of the diamond 3. It was easy to make the heart game, losing only one trick in trumps, one in diamonds and one in clubs.

Shriners To Pay Tribute To Eight Taken by Death

Memorial Service To Precede Ceremonial Tonight at Local Theater

Memorial services for eight members who have died within the past year will precede the victory ceremonial of All Ghan Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, which will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Maryland theater.

Shriners to whom a tribute will be paid are William L. Morgan, Norman Beach, Worthington P. Wachter, Orville L. Beachley, Louis G. Yeager, Charles H. McLane, C. Titus Metzner and Dr. Bruce H. Gushkiel.

14 Will Be Inducted
Fourteen candidates approved for induction at tonight's ceremonial will report to the recorder at the Masonic Temple at 4 p. m. and at 5:15 p. m., a dinner will be served in the banquet hall of the temple by the members of McKinley Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

A colorful parade from Washington street and Prospect Square to the theater is scheduled at 7 p. m. and there will be a band concert in front of the theater at 7:30 p. m. The route of the parade will be Washington street to North Centre street to Market street to North Mechanic street and the theater.

Following memorial services, the ceremonial of which John Elbur is director, will commence at 8:30 p. m. A vaudeville show will get under way at 10 p. m., while at 11 p. m., a reception will be held at the Shrine club rooms, 111 Baltimore street.

Schmidt Is Potentate
Leander Schmidt, of Cumberland, is potentate of All Ghan Temple, whose membership embraces Shriners of Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties. Shriners from nearby Pennsylvania points are expected to attend the annual event.

James Steen Is Taken by Death

B. and O. Pipefitter Dies at His Home on Pennsylvania Avenue

James Steen, 66, died at his home 411 Pennsylvania avenue, Sunday morning at 5 o'clock after a brief illness. He was employed as a pipefitter by the B. and O. railroad. Steen was a member of the First Baptist church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Julia Bone Steen, he is survived by three brothers, George, John and Joseph Steen, all of this city. The body will remain at the home until the funeral hour.

Deatlehouser Rites

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Louis T. Deatlehouser, 57, at Stein's chapel. Deatlehouser died Thursday at Sabillville. He was the husband of Mrs. Jessie Schilling Deatlehouser. The Rev. Edwin W. Saylor, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated and interment was in Rose Hill cemetery. Pallbearers were Clyde Shriver, Joseph Felton, William Deatlehouser, William Harvey Louis Burke and Richard Burke.

Mrs. Edith May Smith Dies

Mrs. Edith May Smith, 77, died Sunday morning at her home in Wiley Ford, W. Va. She was the wife of James Smith.

Besides her husband she is survived by the following children: C. A. McAbee and Mrs. James W. Hare, both of Wiley Ford; Mrs. George Calvert, Elkins, W. Va.; Mrs. J. O. Hull, Cumberland; Mrs. Rachel Twigg, Cumberland; Mrs. Fred Fisher, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Pearl Burt, Cumberland and Howard Smith, at home.

The body was taken to Stein's chapel pending funeral arrangements.

Long Rites Are Held

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Mary Ellen Long, 53, of 623 Montreal avenue, who died Thursday in Memorial hospital. She was the wife of Benjamin H. Long.

The Rev. Clewett E. Miller officiated at the services which were held at the home. Interment was made in Mt. Herman cemetery. Pallbearers were Eugene Evans, Elmo Evans, Ray Catlett, Earl Nixon, Amos Mortzfeldt, and Harry Allen.

Two Boys Arrested For Breaking Into Fort Hill School

Two 12-year-old boys were arrested last night for breaking and entering the cafeteria at Fort Hill high school. One of the boys was released in custody of his parents while the other boy is being held.

Officer J. C. Stouffer made the arrest. Police said the two boys were accompanied by another boy who has not been apprehended. The trio broke a panel of glass in the door and turned the latch to gain entrance.

Nothing of value was taken but various articles were strewn about in disorder, police said.

POTENTATE—Leander Schmidt, of Cumberland, is potentate of All Ghan Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, which will hold its annual ceremonial this evening at the Maryland theater. A former city engineer, Schmidt is now claims examiner for the Maryland State Unemployment Division. He has served as secretary of Scottish Rite bodies here since 1913. The ceremonial will be preceded by a colorful parade and band concert.

3 Local Lawyers To Attend State Bar Conference

Re-organization of Judiciary To Be Discussed at Annual Session

The annual meeting of the Maryland Bar Association will be held in Atlantic City, N. J., Wednesday through Saturday of this week, with headquarters at the Traymore hotel. Three local lawyers, Attorney-General William C. Walsh, William A. Gunter and Walter C. Capper, expect to attend.

The conference will include a report of the commission on the judiciary article of the Constitution of Maryland, which embraces a proposed plan for reorganization of the judiciary of the state. The commission was appointed by Governor Herbert R. O'Connor November 1, 1941, and is made up of thirteen lawyers. Carroll T. Bond, chief judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals is chairman and Walter C. Capper is the local attorney on the commission.

The report of the commission considers principally the court of appeals. Maryland's Court of Appeals is now composed of eight judges. These eight judges perform a double duty by serving in appeals cases and also holding regular court trials. Maryland and Delaware are the only two states where judges of the highest court have regular trial duties.

The attorneys of Maryland, most of them at least, have for years attempted to bring about a reorganization in the court of appeals, and the report to be presented this week, proposes that the number of judges be reduced from eight to five, but that they be required to serve in the singular capacity only, without two jobs to do.

The commission further recommends that the number of judges be reduced to five through occurrence of vacancies.

This reorganization has been studied and discussed and previously reported on by various commissions. The proposal was first made about 35 years ago, and has been given attention almost every time there is a bar conference in Maryland. It is expected to be the topic of considerable discussion at the Atlantic City meeting this week.

Attorney General Walsh Returns from Conference Of Fourth U. S. Circuit

Attorney General William C. Walsh returned yesterday from Asheville, S. C., where he represented Maryland in three habeas corpus petitions before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Fourth Federal circuit. He also attended the twelfth annual conference of the Fourth Federal circuit.

The conference was attended by lawyers and officials from several states. Gov. Herbert R. O'Connor, Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone, United States Attorney-General Francis J. Biddle were among those present. Walsh returned to Washington with Chief Justice Stone and then came on to Cumberland yesterday. He expects to be here only a day or two before returning to Baltimore to attend the annual meeting of the Maryland Bar Association at Atlantic City later in the week.

Local VFW Post Donates $144 toward Planes for Government

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, this city, contributed $144 toward the purchase of fifteen primary training planes by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. The donation of the planes to the War Department was part of the VFW's aviation cadet training program.

The VFW raised $150,000 through voluntary contributions of $1 from each VFW member in America. The planes will be emblazoned with the VFW insignia. Max Singer, commander-in-chief of the national organization made the presentation.

Rotary-Kiwanis To Hear Talk on Winston Churchill

Louis J. Alber Will Speak About Prime Minister at Joint Meeting

The Cumberland Rotary and Kiwanis clubs will hold a joint meeting Tuesday at 12:15 o'clock noon, in Central Y. M. C. A. clubrooms, for the purpose of hearing Louis J. Alber speak on the subject, "Churchill, the Irresistible."

Alber was manager of Winston Churchill's American tour in 1932 and during that time became intimately acquainted with "Britain's Strong Man". His talk is regarded as timely and interesting, and officers of both clubs anticipate a record attendance.

As head of the Coit-Alber Chautauqua and Lyceum Bureau, it was Alber's job for more than thirty years to know about speakers and speeches. He managed the best of them: William Jennings Bryan, William Howard Taft, Warren G. Harding, Woodrow Wilson, Will Rogers, Lowell Thomas, Prince William of Sweden, Count Luckner, and scores of others including the man who is now responsible for the future of the British Empire.

Because of an accident which befell Winston Churchill shortly after he arrived in the United States for the lecture tour in 1931, Alber's association with him was more intimate and extended than ordinarily would have been the case. Drawing upon the incidents of this close association, Alber will present a colorful word-picture of "the most interesting man in England," and one of the outstanding British leaders of all time.

It is said that out of his wealth of acquaintance and contact with the great and near-great, including every President since Teddy Roosevelt, Alber has built a backdrop for this presentation of one of the greatest of them all.

This is the first joint meeting of the two clubs since they changed their regular luncheon meeting place from a local hotel to the Y. M. C. A.

Minor Accidents Send 10 Persons To Hospitals Here

Child Suffers Fractured Ankle when She Jumps into Pool

Ten persons were treated at local hospitals for injuries suffered in accidents over the weekend.

Jo Ann June, 12, of 748 Maryland avenue, suffered a possible fractured ankle when she jumped into the swimming pool at Constitution park yesterday afternoon. Ted Licot, life guard, took the girl to Memorial hospital for treatment.

Max Wilson, 16, of 607 Hill Top drive, suffered a lacerated upper lip when he tripped while climbing over a fence. He was treated at Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Bessie Wheeler, 24, of 228 South Lee street, suffered a possible fracture of the left leg yesterday when she fell on the stairs at her home. Hospital attaches said Mrs. Wheeler fell while attempting to prevent a small child from falling down the stairs.

A. B. and O. railroad brakeman, William Spotts, 53, of 125 Frederick street, suffered fractures of four ribs of his left side Saturday when he fell fourteen feet from a boxcar in the east bound yards. He was admitted to Allegheny hospital.

Another B. and O. employee, James Lagratta, 25, of 215 Third street, suffered a puncture wound of the abdominal wall Saturday when a piece of steel struck him at the railroad shops. After receiving treatment at Allegheny hospital he was released.

While cutting grass at his home with a sickle Richard Manthey, 24, of 401 Oldtown road, suffered lacerations of two fingers of his left hand. After treatment at Allegheny hospital he was released.

Robert Page, 31, of 112 South Spruce street, was admitted Saturday night to Allegheny hospital with a possible fracture of the left ankle. Hospital attaches said he fell fifteen feet from a beam while at work at the Celanese plant.

Treated and released Saturday night from the hospital was James Holland, 16 months, son of Harold Holland, 879 Patterson avenue, who was suffering from minor burns received when a cup of hot coffee was spilled on his abdomen.

Treated Saturday at Memorial hospital were Allen Wiebrecht, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. David N. Wiebrecht, 605 Hilltop drive, for a fractured elbow received when he fell from a swing. Lewis Wamsley, 28, Rawlings, received a fractured wrist Saturday while playing ball at the Taylor field. South End. He was discharged.

Year-Old Baby Is Severely Burned

Robert Robertson, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Robertson, Bowling Green, was admitted to Allegheny hospital at 8:45 p. m. yesterday suffering from severe burns about the face and shoulders.

Hospital attaches said the child upset a percolator of hot coffee at his home.

B'er Chayim Congregation Pays Tribute to 27 Members in Service

Second Largest Crowd Of Season Is Recorded At Constitution Pool

With the mercury hovering around the ninety-degree mark, 1,090 persons passed through the turnstiles yesterday at the Constitution park swimming pool, the second largest crowd recorded of the season, according to William R. E. King, pool manager.

Six hundred and sixty-two children and 418 adults paid to swim in the pool yesterday.

The previous high was established on Sunday, June 7, when 1,308 paid admissions were recorded. This mark, incidentally, is an all-time record, having topped the previous high of 1,168 in 1940. The 1941 high was 1,086.

J. Stanley Hunter, manager of Celanese pool, located off McMullen highway above the plant, said that 819 persons paid to use the pool yesterday. This total included 371 children, 239 high school students and 209 adults. The high for the season at Celanese pool is 887, established two weeks ago.

Attorney Seeks Release of Gray In Emerick Case

Hearing Scheduled Today in Effort To Get Slayer Out of County Jail

A hearing will be held at 11 o'clock this morning before Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan and Associate Judge William A. Huster, on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Vernon E. Gray, 36, of Corrieanville, held without bond in the slaying of Norman Earl Emerick, 37, his next door neighbor.

The petition seeking the release of Gray was filed Saturday in circuit court.

Can Recall Jury
Gray was committed to jail without bond by Magistrate Frank E. Perdew, following a hearing Thursday in trial magistrates court.

Gray's attorney did not specify the grounds upon which he bases his petition for release of the prisoner on bond, but gave only the usual legal phrase "that the prisoner is illegally detained by Sheriff Lucian C. Radcliffe." It was believed however, that the plea will be made because of Gray's health.

It has been indicated that the court could recall the grand jury of the April term, to act on the case, and in the event the grand jury should return an indictment against Gray, members of the petit jury could be recalled for his trial. The jurors are subject to recall by the court.

If Gray remains in jail until the next jury term, he would be imprisoned about four months awaiting trial.

Has Rare Disease
Officers said Gray has been ill for some time with Hodgkin's disease, a rare ailment characterized by enlargement of the lymphatic glands, with progressive anemia. He had been under treatment at a Baltimore hospital in recent months for the ailment.

Gray's arrest followed the fatal shooting of his neighbor Norman Emerick, with a 12-gauge shot gun. The two men had quarreled on several occasions, witnesses said, and on June 12, the day of the fatal shooting, Emerick had challenged Gray to fight. Gray then went to his home and returned with a shot gun. Witnesses said after Emerick was shot, Gray beat him over the head with the gun.

To Open Bids
Bids from local insurance agents, on the city's automotive equipment will be opened this morning at the meeting of the mayor and city council. Bids were asked for several weeks ago, and a number of firms have submitted figures.

Red Men Launch Campaign for War Emergency Fund

Three 'Palefaces' Initiated Here; Great Chiefs Attend Dinner

Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, Improved Order of Red Men, has launched a financial drive for the second World War emergency fund, sponsored by the Great Council of the United States. It was announced yesterday by Stanley Burke, sachem of the local tribe.

Fifty cents or more is being donated by individual members and when the campaign is concluded the money raised here will be turned over to the state council. Maryland's contribution will be forwarded to the Great Council of the United States, Improved Order of Red Men.

Fund Is for Relief
Members are guaranteed by E. C. Wilcox, great inchoonee, that the money will not be used for any purposes other than for relief of suffering among members or their families.

Among the purposes for which such a fund may be necessary are:

1. The evacuation of children from danger zones to locations where they will be in relatively safe locale, and, if possible, to the homes of members of the order.
2. In an emergency, to provide clothing for children of members who have lost their homes by air raids or other causes unforeseen at this moment.
3. To provide, temporarily, food for children of members of the order.
4. To temporarily house families of members of the order should air raids destroy the home in which they are now living.
5. To provide and care not only for children but for the wives of members and for mothers of those who have answered the call to colors.

Three candidates — two of Tonkaway Tribe No. 120 and one of Blackhawk Tribe No. 130, of Westport, were inducted at ceremonies held yesterday at the "Wigwam," 25 Bedford street. A degree team headed by Ernest Hess initiated the "palefaces."

Great Chiefs Attend
Four great chiefs of Maryland were guests of Tonkaway Tribe at a dinner last evening in the "Wigwam." The honored guests were Alway Zittie, of Boonsboro, great sachem; Albert E. Holter, Western port great senior sagamore; Thomas Taylor, Midland, great sachem, and Joseph Jeffries, of Midland, great guard of the wigwam. Eighty-five attended the dinner.

Tonkaway Tribe now has a membership of 328.

Hit-Run Driver Is Trained by Marks Left on Highway

William McMillan Arrested at Mexico Farms after Sideswiping Car

Another example of the old adage that you cannot violate the laws and get away with it was illustrated about 5 a. m. Sunday when three city policemen traced a truck which had sideswiped a car through markings made by a steel rim of one of the truck's wheels.

Lieut. James E. Van and Officers Edwin Lilya and P. C. Jenkins answered a call to the city limits on the Oldtown road made by William Shumaker who said a man driving a small truck sideswiped his car while he was on his way to Cumberland.

When the officers arrived on the scene they were told that the truck driver had driven off but that the truck had one tire which had blown out. Lieut. Van and the other policemen drove on Oldtown road and soon noticed the markings caused by the steel rim. At the intersection of the Oldtown road and the road into Mexico Farms the rim markings indicated the truck had turned off the main highway.

At Mexico Farms the officers arrested William McMillan and he was identified by Shumaker as the man who was driving the truck. McMillan was committed to the city jail on charges of violating two motor laws.

Man Found in Shack On Dan's Mountain With Spotted Fever

Peter Conrad, 48, who was found alone in a shack on Dan's mountain in the Rawlings section suffering from Rocky Mountain spotted fever, was said to be in only a "fair" condition last night at Memorial hospital.

Two wood ticks, said by physicians to carry the germs of the disease, were found on Conrad's body when he was taken to the hospital Saturday. A neighbor found Conrad ill and alone in the shack. The disease is usually found in the western section of the country but in the past several years there have been a number of cases discovered in the eastern section of the state.

CANDIDATE? — According to reliable information, John J. McMullen, 40, who figured prominently in the Maryland gubernatorial campaign of 1938 and the Sixth district congressional contest of 1941, will become a candidate for the House of Representatives. It is understood that friends have approached McMullen with regard to running for the Democratic nomination in the Sixth Maryland district and he is reported to have given his consent. A son of the late Hugh A. McMullen, former state comptroller, McMullen backed Howard Jackson in the gubernatorial contest of 1938 and managed Mrs. Byron's campaign last year. The News was unable to reach McMullen for a statement last evening.

John J. McMullen Reported Seeking House Nomination

Friends Report He Will Oppose Mrs. Byron and Lee in Primary

John J. McMullen, 40, chairman of the Upper Potomac River Commission and secretary-treasurer of the Times and Allegany Company, will seek the Democratic nomination for the Sixth Maryland district of the House of Representatives, according to reliable information received last evening by the Cumberland News.

It is understood that friends have approached McMullen relative to his becoming a candidate for the post now held by Mrs. Katharine Edgar Byron, of Williamsport, Washington county, and he is reported to have consented to seek the nomination in the September primary. The News was unable to contact McMullen last evening for a statement in regard to his candidacy.

Is Third Candidate
McMullen is the third candidate to announce for the Sixth district nomination. He was preceded by Mrs. Byron, whose term expires this year, and E. Brooke Lee, of Montgomery county, former state comptroller and one-time speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates.

The prospective candidate is a native of Cumberland and was a member of the firm of McMullen Brothers department store for a number of years. He figured prominently in two past campaigns, supporting Howard Jackson in the gubernatorial race of 1938 and managed Mrs. Byron's successful campaign for a seat in the lower house at Washington last year.

Son of Former Comptroller
McMullen is a son of the late Hugh A. McMullen, former state comptroller, and is a brother of Daniel F. McMullen, local attorney and present candidate for the post of commander of the Maryland Department, of the American Legion.

Three Boys Are Sent to Maryland Training School

Three boys were committed to the Maryland Training school and one other youth was sent to St. Mary's Industrial School, Baltimore, by action of Juvenile Court, Saturday morning.

It was revealed, following their commitments, that three of the boys were in court Wednesday and acknowledged their part in a series of raids on cash registers in downtown business houses. They were placed in the custody of their parents awaiting arrest of the fourth member of the quartet, who was the alleged leader on the pilfering expeditions.

The boys, according to authorities, ganged up again Thursday to take fourteen dollars and some change from a downtown restaurant.

Home Economics Club Delegates Will Attend Convention in Boston

Miss Velma Swain, president of the Flintstone High School Home Economics Club, left yesterday for Boston to attend the National Home Economics annual convention.

Miss Eleanor Perry, faculty adviser of the Flintstone High School Home Economics Club, also left yesterday to attend the convention.

Speakers Exhort Townsend Plan At Rally Here

Audience Told 31 Signatures Now Needed To Re-lease Bill in House

If the Townsend National Recovery Plan bill ever reaches the floor of the House of Representatives it will become a law.

Such was the opinion expressed yesterday by two national representatives who addressed an audience of 325 persons at a Townsend rally and picnic in Constitution park.

"One hundred and eighty-seven representatives have signed the petition for the plan, including Mrs. Katherine Edgar Byron, of the Sixth Congressional district of Maryland," Clem L. Nonemaker, of Altoona, Pa., national representative for Pennsylvania, declared, "and only thirty-one more signatures are required to attain the 218 necessary to release the bill to the House."

Sure of Senate Approval
Nonemaker added that opponents of the plan are not worried about the Senate. "If the bill gets by the House, the Senate will surely approve it," he said.

The Altoona man stressed the fact that due to the fact that thousands of young men are now in the armed services there will be "old folks election" staged this year and he urged the senior citizens to go to the polls in November if they want the Townsend Plan.

John G. Mains, of Frederick, national representative of Maryland, reviewed the Townsend Plan and said that it provides for two percent gross income tax on all incomes of $250 a month or over $3,000 a year. Men and women over sixty years of age will receive the benefits.

9,000,000 With No Income
It is estimated that there are 14,996,000 persons in the United States over sixty years of age and out of this number 5,000,000 are working, 449,000 in this age bracket are receiving annuities in pensions and over 9,000,000 persons are not receiving any income at all. Under the Townsend Plan it is estimated that a sufficient amount will be raised by the two per cent tax to give all unemployed persons over sixty approximately $50 a month.

The provisions of the plan specify that this amount must be spent over a thirty-day period or future payments will be stopped automatically.

F. Manley Goldsberry, of Chicago, regional director for Pennsylvania, Delaware, West Virginia and Maryland, arrived too late to address the meeting but he discussed regional convention matters with Messrs. Mains and Nonemaker. He stated that due to gas rationing, lack of transportation facilities and housing it will be necessary to cancel the regional convention planned for Harrisburg, Pa., this summer. Goldsberry, however, urged that plans be made to hold two or three sectional meetings to take place of the regional convention. Dr. Francis Townsend, father of the plan, is expected to address one of the meetings in Hagerstown, he said.

5,000 Members in Cumberland

A. L. Marple, chairman of the rally committee, introduced Messrs. Thomas F. Conlon, who delivered the address of welcome from the platform of the park amphitheater. The Rev. J. F. Zimmerman, of the Froburg Congregational church, gave the invocation, after which Marple introduced James W. Miller, of Cumberland, deputy national representative, who in turn introduced Messrs. Mains and Nonemaker.

Miller said that there are four Townsend Clubs in Cumberland and an approximate membership of 5,000 persons. The meeting was concluded with the reading of the Townsend pledge by Marple.

Among the visitors was Dr. J. B. Leathman, brethren minister of West Palm Beach, Fla.

Vocal and instrumental music was provided by the Maphis trio—Marion Robert and Richard, who played the violin, accordion and guitar.

Mrs. Margaret Newcomer was chairman of the entertainment committee.
